Nazis Stiffen At Polish Line

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW, Jan. 6 (AP)—The German army of Field Marshal von Mannstein has retreated into the Pripet marshes and reformed for another stand along the prewar Polish frontier west and south of Olevsk, a customs station the Soviets captured Monday.

This stiffened resistance on the main route from Kiev to Warsaw developed as the massive drive of Gen. Vatutin's First Ukraine army swept southward toward the Dniester river, the prewar Rumanian border, at an accelerated pace following capture of Berdichev, pivotal rail center 25 miles south of Zhitomir.

Advices from the front said von Mannstein had taken up positions favorable for defense with the left flank protected by the marshes and was making a determined stand west of Olevsk along the railway leading to Kovel, a city 130 miles inside the former Polish border, and also in the region southward between Gornodniza and Novogorod-Volynski.

Capture of the latter town, less than 20 miles from the pre-war border, was announced Tuesday.

NAZIS DESTROY BRIDGES

After his own forces had retreated across to their present positions, the Nazi commander had an opportunity to destroy the bridges over two trick water barriers in this area—the Uhor river which flows just west of Olevsk and the Sluch river which swings in a northwesterly direction from Novogorod-Volynski.

A dispatch to the Moscow News, English language weekly, said the Reds had broken through the German defenses along the Sluch.

Previous reports had placed the Russians across the prewar Polish border in the old area between Olevsk and Sarny, 35 miles inside the old frontier.

It was evident a growing battle was in progress there and the Russians were bringing new pressure against the Germans in the Dniester bend as well as conducting a large scale offensive north around Nevel.

REDS GAIN SPEED

The Russians' drive southward picked up momentum as the result of the capture of Berdichev and a dispatch to Izvestia reported fierce fighting in the villages along the highway to Vennitsa, an important rail center on the Bug river. Another objective of the Red army was Zhmerinka, 20 miles beyond on the Odessa-Lwow railway.

There was every indication the Germans had fortified both places and would make a desperate effort to hold them.

Dispatches said little about the Baltic army's operation north of Nevel beyond the fact it was a large scale operation and assuming more importance daily.

RAF Raids Rip Stettin, Berlin

By LEO V. DOLAN

LONDON, Jan. 6 (INS)—Royal Air Force bombers struck almost 600 miles inside Germany during the night to loose a heavy assault on Stettin, vital industrial city which serves as the port of Berlin, the Air Ministry announced today.

Berlin underwent a second successive raid by speedy Mosquito bombers which also attacked targets in western Germany.

The air war continued today when Allied fighter-bombers swept out over the channel after the night bombers returned.

Strong formations of fighter-bombers shuttled back and forth across the channel despite overcast weather conditions.

The London Evening Standard estimated at least 1000 tons of bombs were dropped on all of Germany during the night.

The RAF lost 15 heavyweight bombers in the assault on Stettin.

Both the port and town of Stettin were heavily attacked by the British fliers, who were aided in their assault by bright moonlight.

While some Mosquito forces hit Berlin, others attacked unidentified objectives in western Germany. Northern France also was kept under assault.

The night attacks came after a day of widespread assaults on Germany and France by United States bombers and fighters.

Raid Debris Traps 300 In Hitler Chancellery

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 6 (AP)—Fires still burned in Berlin at 4 p. m. Wednesday from the RAF's heavy Monday raid, and thousands of evacuees, carrying their meager belongings, jammed trains and highways out of the city, the newspaper Aftonbladet said today.

Food shortages have developed in many sections of the battered capital.

Three hundred persons were reported to have been extricated from an air raid shelter beneath

Hitler's damaged Reich chancellery after they had been trapped for 30 hours.

Dispatches to the Stockholm newspaper said also that a Nazi navy shipyard, wharves and an ammunition factory had been destroyed during the two-day American heavy bomber assault on Kiel.

A thousand persons were killed Tuesday and 800 more died in Wednesday's follow-up, the newspaper said.

17 Jap Planes KO'd by Yanks

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Jan. 6 (AP)—The destruction of 17 Japanese planes and two freighters, and a direct hit on an enemy cruiser rewarded Allied aerial assaults ranging from Dutch Timor to New Ireland, a southwest Pacific command communiqué reported today. The Allies lost four aircraft.

United States Marines on the eastern flank of their expanded invasion holdings at Cape Gloucester, New Britain, took the initiative against Japanese in the big Borgen Bay area, using tanks and artillery with aerial support to drive the enemy farther east.

Clark's Army Makes Gain on 10-Mile Front

By WES GALLAGHER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Jan. 6 (AP)—Mud-caked American troops, opening a long-awaited Fifth Army offensive with British troops on a 10-mile front in driving sleet and rain, have smashed and battered their way inside the pillbox maze of San Vittore, where they are fighting the Germans hand-to-hand for possession of the remaining half of the town, Allied headquarters announced today.

The American and British ground forces, supported by wave upon wave of American Invader dive-bombers which twisted through low-hanging clouds to lay salvos of bombs on the enemy's gun positions, advanced an average of a mile in the first day of their offensive on the 10-mile front, Allied headquarters said.

The advance was on a front five miles wide on either side of the Via Cassia, the main road to Cassino and Rome.

NAZIS DUG IN CELLARS

The British surged forward in the five-mile southern half of the sector from a point west of Rocca, while the Americans swept down from the heights around San Vittore on the north side of the road west of Venafro.

Gen. Clark's offensive, which broke weeks of minor activity along the Italian front, started under dripping, wind-swept skies Tuesday night.

San Vittore, six miles from Cassino, had been converted into a fortress with every house a pillbox and with the Germans dug in to wine cellars where the terrific battering of Allied artillery could not reach them. The entire town was a system of fortifications and tank traps.

But by noon Wednesday the Americans had driven through the other defenses and taken half the town.

HAND-TO-HAND BATTLE

Violent hand-to-hand combat was taking place for the other half.

Dispatches from the front said the Germans opened up the fiercest artillery and mortar fire in weeks as the British and Americans rose from their positions and began the offensive.

"The Germans are fighting bitterly for every inch of ground in their customary style, but have been driven back at least a mile in most places," a military spokesman said.

The Allied difficulties were increased by rain which swelled the watercourses again, by snow in the mountains and by sleet which threw a clammy blanket on expected air support.

PRE-INVASION PLEA RADIOED TO BELGIANS

LONDON, Jan. 6 (AP)—In the name of the United Nations high command, the British Broadcasting Company radioed pre-invasion pleas to the Belgians today to remain in their homes when military operations get under way.

"If you are on roads, you will obstruct Allied air forces which must be free to attack the enemy's communications," the broadcast said.

"If, on the other hand, you hamper the movement of the Germans they will shoot you down ruthlessly. Stay in your homes... anything is better than the roads."

The broadcast further advised the Belgians to dig slit trenches and to build dugout shelters.

Rommel Tours German Defenses in Holland

LONDON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Marshal Erwin Rommel has completed a tour of German defense installations in Holland as a part of his inspection of the anti-invasion works of Europe's west coast, DNB said today in a Berlin broadcast. "Alarm practices and maneuvers carried out with live ammunition again proved the high standard of training and that the divisions are ready for the attack," said the German news agency.

GUADALCANAL, Jan. 6 (AP)—Maj. Gregory Boyington of Okanogan, Wash., was officially credited today with shooting down his 26th Japanese plane to tie the record set by a fellow Marine, Maj. Joe Foss.

Boyington, a former member of the "Flying Tigers" in China, got his 26th in a raid on Rabaul, New Britain, three days ago.

Girl, 15, Sole Aid of 7 Mutes

By ALICE BISSELL

It was just a few moments today in the lifetime of 15-year-old Ruthie Greenlaw, and it was only a few words she spoke, but when the moments were over she laughed and said: "Now you know the truth!"

Ruth, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Greenlaw of Bartlett st., Roxbury, is the only one in the family who has been given the gift of words and the gift of hearing.

Her mother and father, her sisters, Leila, 18; June, 13; Nancy, 11; Elizabeth, 9 months, and her little brother, Raymond, 10, are all deaf and dumb.

Upon the shoulders of this girl has rested the responsibility of interpreting for each member of her family—of being the go-between for them and the world, and of taking care of the millions of details that go with the routine of keeping house.

GUIDE FOR FAMILY

She must answer the doorbell—she must order the food, she must be the companion of her brothers and sisters when they walk in the street, and she must guide her mother and her 43-year-old father, and try to explain things to them.

And suddenly today she broke down. The family troubles, which you shall hear about, became too much for her to bear and she looked up with tears streaming down her face and said:

"I want to be understood! I want someone to understand me! I want someone to listen to me! I want to be the most beautiful skater in the world! That's what I want to be!"

And as the little girl spoke, she knew that none of the family around her could understand.

SIGNS WON'T TELL IT

"I can't explain those things in my heart with my hands. I've learned to speak their language, but I can't explain those things."

"I have a friend. He is my age and he lives in a nice house. He wants to be a great skater. too. We want to be partners and dance in the big ice shows. But he doesn't know that my family is different. I don't dare tell him."

"He thinks we are the same as other people, and if he ever found out, maybe he wouldn't like me and wouldn't want to be my partner. And he's bound to find out now that our story is going to be in the paper about the court."

You couldn't explain to her that the boy would want her more than anyone else for his skating partner if he could walk in that house and see the soldier she is, and bearing more than most people have to in a lifetime.

BUT FAMILY UNDERSTANDS

But while she spoke this time her family stood around, and you could tell they understood, although they didn't say so.

DOROTHY LAMOUR
"War Production Hazard"

When Dot Lamour Visits War Plants Work Just Stops

CLEVELAND, Jan. 6 (AP)—Movie Actress Dorothy Lamour was named as a hazard to war production by a woman unionist attending a meeting of the Cleveland Federation of Labor last night.

Zelma E. Monahan, a member of the Office Workers Union, declared she had been told Miss Lamour was responsible for the loss of "thousands of man hours when she went through war plants and stopped work."

In moving that the Federation support William E. Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in his challenge to the unnamed high government official who charged that strikes in this country were prolonging the war, Miss Monahan declared the movie actress was an example of lost production attributable to causes other than strikes.

50-Ct. Rent Boost Costs Her $1500

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Jan. 6 (AP)—A 71-year-old widow, who charged 50 cents per week above the OPA maximum rental for an apartment, must pay $1500 to a tenant.

Mrs. Mary Bochino of nearby Baldwinsville, testifying through an interpreter, was ordered in State Supreme Court to pay the amount to Morris R. Ward of Granby Center.

Ward paid $5 weekly rental for 31 weeks. He sought, in his action, the $50 penalty provided under the emergency price control act of 1942 for each week.

Justice Frank J. Clegg, directing the jury's verdict, said Mrs. Bochino had violated the act and therefore the court could exercise no discretion, however much sympathy it had.

Leather Strikers Back

LOWELL, Jan. 6 (AP)—Four hundred employees of the American Hide and Leather Co. who left their jobs yesterday, went back to work today after a conference in which their representatives said they were assured a meeting would be held in Boston, Monday to conclude a contract that had been held in abeyance since Oct. 27.

BABY-SLAYING MOTHER IS FOUND SANE

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (INS)—A 22-year-old mother who admitted, police said, that she fatally beat her 2-year-old daughter with a stove poker was declared legally sane today after an examination by a psychiatrist.

A mental examination was ordered for the mother, Mrs. Mildred Merkel, a brunette, after she told conflicting stories about the death of her baby, Claire.

Dr. William Haines, the psychiatrist, announced that while Mrs. Merkel was a psychopathic case and subject to fits of anger, she could determine between right and wrong and was aware of the enormity of the crime.

The young mother's husband, Fred, 40, a machinist in a war plant, declared he would stand by his wife. He said he believed her original story that their daughter died from a fall "because I wanted to believe her." He added he felt no bitterness and still loved his wife.

F.D. Still Sick, Drafts Message

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—President Roosevelt, still trying to shake off the effects of the grippe, remained in his White House quarters again today and continued work on his annual message to Congress.

He had one brief appointment, Adm. Harold R. Stark, commanding American Naval forces in the European theater, saw him to say goodbye before returning to his command.

Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early said Mr. Roosevelt's Friday morning press conference would be cancelled.

Jailed Girl to Learn How to Be Criminal

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (INS)—Frances Pisano, 20-year-old shoplifter, will seek a criminal education at the Westfield State Farm Reformatory in Bedford Hills, N. Y. When Judge Freschi sentenced her for an indefinite term for theft of a fur coat from a department store, she screamed:

"The day I step into Bedford Hills is the day my criminal education begins. And the day I step out is the day I'll put that criminal education to use!"

5 Fined $2300 After Pool Raid

Fines totaling $2300 and two jail terms were imposed on five North End men in municipal court today after they were found guilty by Judge Elijah Adlow on gambling charges as an aftermath of a surprise raid on a Charter st., North End, rooming house.

Fines of $1000 each were paid by Vincenzo V. Lucido, 30, of Charter st., and Charles A. Uva, 40, of Parmenter st., North End, on lottery charges. A four-month jail term imposed on Uva was suspended.

A four-month suspended jail term and a fine of $100 was imposed on Francesco P. Intiso, 26, of Charter st. Fines of $100 each were also paid by John M. DiGangi, 23, of Prince st., and Louis J. Reppucci, 33, of North st., found guilty of lottery charges.

The defendants paid their fines in $100 bills.

Betting sheets and records revealing daily plays which ranged from $30,000 to $50,000 were found in the pool headquarters, a basement room in Charter st., the police raiders revealed.

Betting sheets and records revealing daily plays which ranged from $30,000 to $50,000 were found in the pool headquarters, a basement room in Charter st., North End, the police raiders revealed. Heavy steel doors in the front and rear protected the betting office and these had to be battered down by sledge hammers and axes.

Lucido was charged with maintaining a lottery and being concerned in promoting and setting it up. The others were charged with being concerned in promoting a lottery. Lucido had $450 cash in his pockets and Uva's pockets contained $725.

Two truckloads of furnishings, including two telephones and four electric adding machines were seized. Adding machines of this type, if you can get them, police say, sell for $500 each.

Lend-Lease Aid Tops 18 Billion, Report by F. D.

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—President Roosevelt, in a report placing total lend-lease aid to America's Allies at $18,608,000,000 through Nov. 30, declared today 1944 "will be a year of decisive actions in the war."

He declared the United Nations had increased their powers to defeat the Axis and had "beaten back our enemies on every front."

At Allied war councils at Tehran and Cairo a few weeks ago, the President said, plans were made for major offensives which will speed victory.

It was his 13th report on lend-lease since the program began in March, 1941.

3 1/2 BILLION TO REDS

Up to the end of November, the program, described as "an essential element of United Nations strategy," took 13 1/2 cents out of every dollar of American war expenditures.

Exports, the assistance activity delivered to recipient nations, added up to $12,844,000,000 through October—more than one and a half times the sum for all of 1942. Munitions accounted for $4,674,000,000, an increase of 142 per cent over the corresponding 10 months of 1942.

Russia got $3,550,000,000 of the exports and the United Kingdom $2,980,000,000.

A considerable part of the report apparently was designed to answer criticism—some of it by members of the globe-circling committee of five senators who visited major war theaters.

One section, for instance, complete with reproductions of labels, hammered at the theme that lend-lease items were well marked to show they originated in the U. S. A. Some critics had said that the British were redistributing lend-lease goods under their own labels.

GASOLINE IN AFRICA

Another section evidently was aimed at reports civilians in North Africa were burning much American gasoline while motorists in this country were compelled to skimp. It said all oil products, upon arrival in the area, are allocated by Allied headquarters.

None of the fuel, the report said, was allocated for pleasure-driving or nonessential services, and even essential users, like doctors, got less gasoline on the average than A-card holders in the United States.

Only a minute fraction of 1 per cent of America's coal production has moved into lend-lease channels, the report said, and none has gone to Britain.

Russia, it said, is the only country on the list for lend-lease butter and has received 33,500 tons. At the same time, American forces in the Pacific got 8250 tons of butter through reverse lend-lease from Australia and New Zealand.

From January through October, 1943, the report said, the average American consumed 11 pounds of butter, whereas only 6.2-5 ounces per capita were lend-leased.

Lend-lease aid to Russia in the first ten months of last year was up 63 per cent over all of 1942, with aircraft, ordnance and other munitions constituting 56 per cent of the export value.

"The lend-lease aid we have furnished," the report asserted, "has been effectively used in the Red army's advances in the Ukraine and White Russia. Through October we sent to the U. S. S. R., nearly 7000 planes, more than to any other lend-lease country; more than 3500 tanks and 195,000 motor vehicles, including trucks, jeeps, motorcycles, and other vehicles."

Exports of foodstuffs to the Soviet Union included 343,000 tons of wheat and flour, 277,000 tons of sugar, 324,000 tons of canned meat, 441,000 tons of fats and oils, 136,000 tons of dried fruits and vegetables and 38,000 tons of dried eggs.

Munitions comprised 48 per cent of lend-lease exports to Britain in the first 10 months of 1943. The report told how lend-lease planes and bombs help devastate German industries and mentioned tremendous offensives to be launched from Britain.

POSTWAR AIRFIELDS

Obviously taking cognizance of demands in this country that America be allowed to retain airfields she has built abroad, the report said lend-lease equipment installed in the fields would be taken into account in final lend-lease settlements.

"The question of the future use of airfields in all parts of the world, both for strategic and commercial purposes," it said, "involves many other factors besides lend-lease, of course."

"The final and complete answer can be found only through the continuing and successful collaboration of the United Nations in international commerce after the war and the development of a system of general military security in which the interests of both the United States and the other United Nations are fully protected."

Food Spoilage Only $1 On $5000, WFA Reports

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—The War Food Administration, reporting on its holdings of food for lend-lease, emergency and other export purposes, said today its losses from spoilage had amounted to only $1 on every $5000 of total purchases between March, 1941, and Dec. 1, 1943.

The report gave these figures on WFA holdings on Dec. 1:

Frozen meats—WFA holdings 9,500,000 pounds or about 2 per cent of total commercial stocks of 446,000,000 pounds.

Canned meats—WFA holdings, 246,000,000 pounds, or approximately 3 1/2 months supply at the December rate of delivery.

Cured meats—WFA holdings, 23,000,000 of a total commercial stocks of 258,000,000 pounds.

Butter—WFA holdings, 108,000,000 pounds of total commercial stocks of 176,000,000 pounds. Of WFA stocks, 30,000,000 pounds have been scheduled for transfer to U. S. military services to add to military stocks already held, 28,000,000 to the Russian army, 10,000,000 to the War Shipping Administration which supplies Allied Merchant Marine in U. S. ports, 4,000,000 to U. S. territories, 1,000,000 to the American Red Cross, 5,000,000 to civilian hospitals, and the remainder—20,000,000 pounds—for an emergency reserve. WFA butter holdings were acquired last spring and summer, during the heavy production period. Thus the entire production since that time has been available for civilians.

Eggs Pile Up Here; OPA Asks Price Cut

New England's egg supply was in a decidedly scrambled state today, with the market glutted, prices fluctuating and farmers predicting a near-famine by next fall.

TO WED NAVY MAN—Film Actress Rita Quigley was wearing a diamond on her engagement finger today . . . and film friends were trying to guess the date for her wedding to Navy Lieut. Arthur Goehner. Rita says she will quit the films after her marriage.

OPA authorities said housewives should not pay over 57 cents a dozen for large eggs, which are selling for as low as 47 cents in some stores. Wholesale egg prices are far below retail figures and consumer prices ought to be slashed, the OPA said.

Because of the greatest surplus of eggs in years, the War Food Administration will purchase large quantities in this region, John F. Sullivan, local WFA representative announced.

President Foster F. Tabb of the Maine Poultry Co-operative termed the surplus a sign that many egg producers may go out of business soon. Lack of hard coal is forcing many poultrymen to eliminate their egg hatching program, since they are unable to heat their brooders, he said.

Also blamed was the grain shortage, which has led farmers to dump their eggs on the market rather than hatch them in order to produce broilers.

Heiress Tries to Take Life

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (INS)—Another chapter in the sensational life of Mrs. Ruth Staley Hunt, 40-year-old starch heiress, was added today when police announced she had attempted suicide in her 10-room Gold Coast penthouse.

Other tenants in the exclusive building were credited with saving her life by notifying police when they smelled escaping gas.

Mrs. Hunt, former wife of a broker and the daughter of A. E. Staley, Decatur, Ill., starch king, was found unconscious in the kitchen of her penthouse. All six jets of the gas stove had been turned on.

Policeman Michael Brosnan, who helped revive her, said she told him she was despondent and worried over her son in the Army.

Last April Mrs. Hunt thrilled New York's swank Sutton Place by climbing the guard-rail of the 13-room penthouse she occupied and threatening to leap 15 floors to the street.

Last March 12 she served 15

Joe E. Brown Raps Safe-Area Actors

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, ALGIERS, Jan. 6 (AP)—Joe E. Brown, in a world tour of battlefronts, arrived in Algiers today for a month of shows in Italy, and loosed a critical blast at entertainers who, he said, play the back areas and do not go to the front.

"If they don't want to go to the front they had better go home," he declared. "The men at the front are the ones who need entertainment."

He also criticized the army's special services for scheduling shows for him around headquarters rather than starting him on an immediate tour of the front.

"I am not over here to play to a bunch of generals," he said.

The wide-mouthed comedian came here from a tour of China, India and the Middle East.

Year's Mustering-Out Pay Backed by Public

By FRANK REILLY
Boston American Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6—Americans on the home front want at least a year's mustering-out pay for discharged service men and women, one militant leader in the congressional fight for justice asserted today, and nothing but a gag rule can prevent it being voted.

By gag rule, Rep. John M. Coffey (D.) of Washington referred to the practice, resorted to recently with disturbing frequency, of bringing a bill out on the floor of the House for debate under a rule forbidding amendments.

The House, under that rule, must accept or reject the bill, though the Senate may later amend it.

The rules committee has the function of deciding whether or not a "gag" shall be imposed on Congress when a bill is considered.

Rep. A. J. Sabath of Illinois is chairman of the House rules committee and by virtue of his chairmanship is one of the most powerful men on Capitol Hill.

It was the guess today by Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts that the committee would not impose a gag rule. Martin said:

"There is so much interest in the measure, and so many members of Congress have very decided views on it, that I would not think the bill would be brought out under a closed rule. I would not expect that development."

105 WAVES Leave Hub for Training

Eager to release able-bodied Navy men for combat duty, 105 New England women left South Station today to begin WAVES boot training at Hunter College Training School, Bronx, N. Y.

Among the 32 Greater Boston women in the group was Edith Presser of McLeellan st., Dorchester, who considers Dec. 7, 1943, as one of the most important dates in her life.

"That was the day I became an American citizen and it was also the day I joined the WAVES," Miss Presser said.

She is a native of Winnipeg, Canada, and proudly declared she has one brother in the U. S. Navy and another in the Coast Guard.

Miss Claire E. Armitage, 21, of Parkland ave., Lynn, by joining the WAVES made her family's contributions to the country's military forces 100 per cent.

DAD IN SEABEES

Her father, John Armitage, is in the Seabees; her mother, Mrs. Mae Walsh is a member of the Massachusetts Women's Defense Corps; her stepfather, Edward Walsh, is a Coast Guardsman, and her stepbrother, Edward Walsh, Jr., is in the Navy. In addition, Miss Armitage's fiancé, F. E. Creighton of Lynn, is in the Coast Guard.

The WAVES were divided into three groups for the train ride with Miss Ruth J. Desmond of Congress st., Lynn; Miss Marion L. Moran of Commonwealth st., Allston, and Miss Beatrice M. Walsh of Lawrence, in charge of the units.

The Greater Boston contingent included: Marjorie C. Adams, Edwin st., Dorchester; Dorothy G. Blakeley, Broadway, Everett; Mary E. Butters, Dean st., Norwood; Lillian M. Capasso, Lafayette st., Arlington; Elizabeth M. Ceteo, Burke st., South Boston; Margaret R. Collins, Cottage st., Newton Upper Falls; Barbara M. Cummings, Maple st., Auburndale; Hazel A. Davies, Webster st., Malden; Dorothy A. Donohue, Sacramento st., Cambridge; Marie R. Giblin, Commonwealth ave., Brighton; Jeanne Glidden, Washington st., Belmont; Jean D. Goodale, Boyd st., Newton; Willie B. Gordon, Woodward ave., Quincy; Eleanor F. Hanna, Washington st., Dorchester; Elizabeth A. Hickey, Perry st., Brookline; Helen I. Hicks, Webster pl., West Newton; Mary Kalenka, Lund rd., Medford; Esther R. Libby, Summer st., Somerville; Jean McConnel, Marblehead; Mary E. McGuire, North Bayfield rd., North Quincy; Marion L. Moran, Commonwealth ave., Allston; Mary H. Nicholson, Huntington ave., Back Bay; Muriel A. Olson, Clinton st., Cambridge; Rita N. Renaud, Orchard st., Dedham; Dorothy E. Randall, Jellicott; Phyllis A. Stone, Ashmont st., Melrose; Elizabeth A. Twining, Marshall st., Winthrop; Helena M. Warlock, Waverly st., Everett; Priscilla I. Williams, Lynn; Gertrude Wise, Richmond st., Newton.

3000 Philadelphia Workers Strike

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6 (AP)—More than 3000 unionized employees of Philadelphia's department of public works—street cleaners, highway workers, etc.—went on strike today in an effort to enforce their demand for a 10-cent-an-hour wage increase.

Robert T. Willard, business agent of the water bureau local, told the workers employed in supplying the city with water that "there must be no interruption of service."

Sullivan May Have Seen Film

Police Commr. Thomas F. Sullivan and Asst. Atty-Gen. William F. Hayes conferred for an hour today—and while nobody doubted it was regarding Atty-Gen. Bushnell's continued pressure to discredit five twice-cleared police officials, neither official would talk.

Hayes, in answer to reporters' questions after the meeting, merely said:

"We exchanged pleasantries. We also discussed business. We will confer again at a later date at Col. Sullivan's convenience. What did we discuss? After all..."

Col. Sullivan contented himself with:

"I have nothing to say." But the reporters were convinced in their own minds that Col. Sullivan had visited the State prosecutor's office to view the long-rumored movies purporting to show racket activities in Boston.

132 Join New Fish Union

NEW BEDFORD, Jan. 6 (AP)—A group of 132 New Bedford fishermen today broke away from their fellows, who have been idle along with Boston and New York fishermen for nearly seven weeks in protest against OPA ceiling fish prices, and organized a local under the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (AFL) with the intention of resuming fishing as soon as the weather clears.

The group includes men who said they were dissatisfied with the Atlantic Fishermen's Union (AFL), men who claim they were denied membership in that union and fishermen with no union affiliation, according to S. P. Jason, business agent for the teamsters union.

Seek Soldier's Body In Surf at Wells, Me.

WELLS, Me., Jan. 6—Patrols searched the coast today for the body of a soldier who was swept to his death in the high surf off Bald Head Cliff. The victim's name was withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Hull Dad Gets Son's Award

Matthew F. Tierney of O st., Allerton, has received from the War Department a Purple Heart, awarded posthumously to his son, Pvt. Richard Tierney, for wounds which resulted in his death Oct. 8 in the Fifth Army's drive through Italy.

The Allerton soldier, a former Boston American newboy at Hull, went down under Nazi machine-gun fire.

A vivid description of Pvt. Tierney's last fight was given in a letter to his parents by his rifle teammate, Dearnard Sabourin, who was creeping over a ridge directly in front of Tierney.

He was the third generation of soldier Tierneys to tread Italian soil. His grandfather fought with Lord Roberts there in 1880, and an uncle, with the Fifth Gloucester Regiment, also British, went through Italy on the way to Egypt in World War I.

Tierney's brother is still in service—William A. Tierney, pharmacist's mate third class in the Navy.

Bay State's Health Unaffected by War

Despite food rationing, a reduction in the medical and nursing facilities for civilians and the possibility of imported disease by returning troops, the health of the people of Massachusetts has not been affected greatly by the war, it was reported today by Dr. Vlado A. Getting, State Health Commissioner.

Dr. Getting made this declaration even though the number of communicable diseases reported in the state for 1943 reached 138,392 cases—the highest recorded since the wartime year of 1918.

Great credit for quickly curbing threatening epidemics and keeping fatalities at a low level was given to widespread use of sulphur drugs.

MEASLES AT TOP

The high level for the year was blamed on German measles, which with 34,147 cases reached epidemic proportions, and scarlet fever, which totaled 15,404 cases.

For the eighth consecutive year there was not a major epidemic of infantile paralysis, although the number of cases jumped to 258 from last year's low of only 36. Tuberculosis cases dropped from 1942's 3274 cases to 3017.

Despite the reports of "teen-age promiscuity," there was no great change in the prevalence of venereal disease. The Bay State continued its good record with 4701 reported cases of gonorrhea and 5520 reports of syphilis, representing an increase of 247 cases of gonorrhea and a decrease of 177 cases of syphilis.

TYPHOID FEVER LOW

Typhoid fever hit an all-time low with only 34 cases, while for the 12th consecutive year there was not a single case of smallpox. Malaria cases numbered 116, but not one of them was contracted in this state.

Reported lobar pneumonia cases reached a record low of 3103, but the month of December, with 500 cases, showed an increase over the 450 cases in December a year ago.

Prisoners' Jobs Barred

Despite the threatened breakdown of refuse collection service in Boston owing to the manpower shortage, Der Island house of correction prisoners may not be used for this type of work, Penal Institutions Commr. Joseph P. Donohoe has ruled.

U. S. WARNING SEEN IN RED WILLKIE RAP

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (INS)—Official Washington viewed with deep concern today the implications of the attack by the Soviet newspaper Pravda on Wendell L. Willkie.

Pravda's attack on Willkie for his recent article questioning what Russia intended to do with the small states around her borders was interpreted in authoritative quarters as an indirect but none the less emphatic warning to the United States and Britain to keep hands off those matters.

The Pravda warning was considered particularly significant in view of the fact that the American and British governments are now actively engaged in consultations concerning the problem raised by the advance of the Soviet armies across the old borders of Poland.

Washington officials noted with interest the blunt Pravda statement that "with respect to Finland and Poland—it must be said that the Soviet Union will be able to get an agreement with them itself and does not need the help of Mr. Willkie."

It was feared in Washington that this statement probably was intended more for the attention of the American and British governments than for Mr. Willkie.

Despite the Pravda blow to official Washington hopes, the American government intends to keep trying to persuade Soviet Russia to refrain from imposing complete domination on the border states.

JAP PAID TIES FOR LIE ABOUT STAY IN U. S.

Some neckties "and a few dollars" magically stretched his record as a resident in America from eight to 23 years, it was brought out today in federal court at a hearing given Motoichi Yoshikawa, 47-year-old Japanese enemy alien of Braddock st., South End.

The Jap house servant pleaded guilty to subornation of perjury. Judge Arthur D. Healey gave him a suspended sentence of a year and a day, placing him on three years' probation.

According to Malagodi, the Jap, during the alien drive some time ago, swore he had been in this country 23 years and was supported in his contention by George Dalquist of Broadway Somerville. However, Yoshikawa had been here only eight years.

Dalquist, who was paid off in neckties and a few dollars by the Jap, Malagodi said, is under indictment for perjury.

Guilty in Shooting Of Colonel's Wife

CAMP PHILLIPS, Kan., Jan. 6 (AP)—A military court convicted Capt. David Roberts late last night of shooting and wounding a colonel's wife and shooting at the wife of another captain last Oct. 24 at an officers' club party at the Concordia, Kan., war prisoner camp.

The court of six majors and five captains acquitted him of two other charges and recommended that he be dismissed from the service and forfeit all pay due or to become due. The verdict will be reviewed by the Seventh Service Command at Omaha, then by the War Department.

Mrs. John R. Sterling, wife of a colonel then commandant at the camp, was shot in the back after intervening between Capt. Roberts and Mrs. John R. King, a captain's wife, and her daughter, Betty.

Capt. Roberts was acquitted of charges of shooting at Betty King and Pvt. Jack King, no relative.

Mrs. Sterling, who has recovered, testified last night that she shoved Mrs. King away after she saw the captain's hand move toward his holster.

"But I do not think for one second that Capt. Roberts had any idea of shooting anyone," she said. "It was purely an accident."

Roberts testified earlier he had had several drinks but was not intoxicated.

WFA BACKS GROCERY BILL SUBSIDY PLAN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—The War Food Administration gave surprise endorsement today to legislation that would set up a government stamp plan to subsidize the grocery bills of low income families.

The plan would provide for distribution of food stamps to families of substandard incomes to insure them an adequate, basic diet. The WFA estimated 18,000,000 persons would be eligible and that the program would cost the government a maximum of $3,000,000 yearly.

WFA's approval was set forth in a letter to the Senate Agriculture Committee and plans were announced immediately to open hearings on the bill, probably within a week.

Surprise over WFA's sanction of the stamp plan was occasioned by the fact that the bill, introduced last July by Senators Aiken (R.) of Vermont and LaFollette (Prog.) of Wisconsin, includes a ban against price control subsidies, key weapon in the Administration's fight to stabilize consumer food prices at September, 1942, levels.

Grover B. Hill, who signed the endorsement letter as acting WFA administrator, wrote that the stamp plan was desirable from a standpoint of public health, but that the WFA did not believe it would prevent food costs from rising.

Germans Massacre 1000 in Greek Town

CAIRO, Jan. 6 (AP)—The exiled Greek government announced today the Germans had massacred more than 1000 residents of Kalavrita and destroyed the historic convents of Mega Spileo and Agia

The Greeks said all males over 12 years old were ordered assembled in a large space outside Kalavrita on Peloponnesus, to "listen to a speech" which turned out to be the chatter of machine-guns. Later, the Greeks said, women and children of the town were compelled to assemble in a school which was set afire. The statement said scores died in the panic.

Houses then were plundered by soldiers. The convents were said to have been set upon and 15 monks were mistreated and thrown into a ravine, the statement said.

Wholesale Slaughter Of Russians Revealed

LONDON, Jan. 6 (INS)—Thousands of Russians were said today to have been put to death, some burned alive, by German troops as they retreated from Byela Tserkov before advancing Soviet forces.

Sixty civilian inhabitants were burned to death in the town square, the newspaper Pravda said, according to the Moscow radio in a broadcast recorded by Reuters.

The radio quoted a report in the Soviet newspaper Izvestia stating 100,000 women, children and aged people had been slain by the Nazis in the Kiev region.

Big Convoy Leaves Rock

POLES URGED TO ANNEX NAZI LANDS

MOSCOW, Jan. 6 (AP)—The newspaper "Pre-Free Poland" called for a postwar expansion of Poland to the west to provide a "strategic stronghold against the Prussians."

In an article published yesterday, the newspaper also insisted that Poland must have a democratic government which would liquidate "all remnants of fossilized political and economic reaction."

(Although the dispatch did not make clear the affiliation of this publication, it may be the organ of a Russian-sponsored Polish organization in Moscow. The statement apparently implied that postwar Poland should annex sections of Germany or East Prussia.)

"To the east," the newspaper said, "the White Russian Ukraine will not forfeit on ethnological grounds (land) belonging to them even if certain Poles do not understand the rights of the Slav nations to the east on their united territories."

(This obviously was a reference to Polish territory occupied in 1939 by Red Army forces and which Soviet troops again have penetrated in their chase after the fugitive Nazis.)

War Only Begun On Tough Rabaul

SOUTH PACIFIC AIRBASE, Jan. 5 (Delayed) (AP)—The all-out air war against Rabaul, Japanese stronghold on New Britain has "barely started yet," Maj.-Gen. Ralph J. Mitchell, commander of the Solomons air force, said today.

"But it won't be long now," this Connecticut Marine officer added significantly.

Any island stronghold can be reduced from the air if hit hard enough long enough with enough planes, he said, and that goes for Rabaul.

That base, however, will be harder to knock out from the air than were the five enemy fields on Bougainville, which were neutralized as preliminary to the land invasion at Empress Augusta bay, Nov. 1.

"It took us about three months to make the Bougainville fields unusable," Mitchell continued. "It may take longer against Rabaul as the opposition, particularly anti-aircraft, is much heavier. But we can do it—the fields at Empress Augusta brings us close enough."

Nazis Give France A Second Himmler

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP)—The German Transocean Agency today quoted the Nazi party newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, as saying that Joseph Darnand, newly-appointed Vichy "secretary general for the maintenance of order," would "break force by force."

Meanwhile the Stockholm newspaper Svenska Dagbladet declared that Darnand's appointment gave France "its own Himmler," who would "in reality become as much an interior minister under German control as Himmler is in Germany."

DANCE CLASS SERIES HIT WITH YOUTH

Some 1000 'teen-age Boston boys and girls joined today in their praise of the new series of dancing classes now in progress in three local youth centers sponsored by the Massachusetts Youth Committee.

Instructors furnished by the Dancing Teachers' Club of Boston are co-operating by leading the youngsters in latest steps, providing wholesome recreation along with the best dancing instruction.

At the Joseph H. Barnes School in East Boston, more than 300 eager boys and girls glided through the fourth lesson given there, with Mrs. Christine MacAnanny of Melrose instructing them.

Head of one of the finest dancing schools in Greater Boston, Mrs. MacAnanny declared the youngsters were most enthusiastic.

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Murphy of Boston initiated the free dancing lessons in South Boston to a group of nearly 200 at South Boston High School.

Murphy told the gathering, most of whom were girls, that dancing tutelage at this stage of their lives would be of invaluable assistance in building their confidence and would later enable them to feel at home in any gathering.

Many of the children present at the South Boston class were in attendance at the behest of Catherine McHugh, president of the Elementary Teachers Club and an enthusiastic backer of the youth centers.

Dance Instructress Mrs. Doris Power of Medford worked with some 200 youngsters at the Grove Hall Youth Center and expressed amazement at the rapidity at which the boys and girls progressed during the course of the evening.

Lexington Flier Paves Way to Own Death

A request for duty aboard the aircraft carrier Lexington may have cost the life of William Wheeler Stevens, 24, the only enlisted Lexington man aboard that vessel, according to a Navy message to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Stevens of Burlington st., Lexington.

Stevens, an aerial gunner, and his plane failed to return to the carrier after a flight. He enlisted Feb. 3, 1942, and was on duty at the Quonset Point, R. I., naval station when, at his own request, he was assigned to the new Lexington.

though they could not hear and could not tell her so.

This all came about today when Robert True, agent for the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and Patrolman Frank Coleman from Station 10, went to the house to take the children to court.

There were many things to be settled. The officers wanted to settle the affairs of the father, who is on parole from a sentence on a morals charge. They had to see if the house was in good enough condition for any family to live in. They had to arrange for three of the children to be returned to the Deaf and Dumb School. They had to find medical care for the baby. They had to check on the health of Mrs. Greenlaw, who is in City Hospital suffering from pneumonia.

COME WITH WARRANT

They came with a warrant charging neglect of the children. They were very kind, and the officers helped dress the children, but True was in a hurry to get to court on time.

"Dutchie," you'll have to listen to me, and you'll have to explain to your father, and you'll have to go to the judge, and explain everything to him. No one else in the world can do it," said True.

So she trudged off with the family to the courthouse, determined to explain the lives and hearts of her family to the judge, because she was the only one in the world who knew about them.

But before she left in the pouring rain, she turned, smiled, and said:

"Do you know what I do! I go to Girls' High and I study hard. But after school I go to a job as salesgirl, just for a while, and I get $6 a week for doing the work. "And do you know what I do with the money? I spend it for myself. For skating and skating. I'm going to be a star like Sonja Henie some day! I'm going to have a great career."

R. H. White Co. Gets Army Show

A new War Department exhibit to acquaint the public with equipment and activities of the Army Service Forces will be on display at R. H. White Co., Jan. 10, for two weeks, it was announced today.

It will include weapons ranging from a trench knife to a jeep, among them the famous "bazooka" gun. Food, rations, medical attention, recreational facilities, religious care and many other phases of life in the Army will be represented.

Charges Hubby Plied Hairbrush

SALEM, Jan. 6—Although her husband is a hairdresser by profession, he used his hairbrush on her in an unprofessional and humiliating manner, Mrs. Muriel A. Roland, 26, of 219 Beacon st., Boston, testified in probate court today.

She asked a divorce from Victor Roland, 33, of Beverly, on ground of cruelty.

Mrs. Roland said that once she returned home at 11:30 p. m. after visiting an aunt and found the house locked. Her husband was in bed. She threw pebbles at his window but couldn't stir him. So, she related, she simply broke a pane in the door, reached in and turned the lock.

Whereupon, she continued, her husband got up, seized his hairbrush and spanked her vigorously.

Judge John V. Phelan took the case under advisement. It is uncontested.

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of filtering the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or watery passages with smarting and burning sensations show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give better relief and cure than 10 pills of kidney pills that are passed out waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

N.E.'s 'Fighting 43d' Finds Jungle Glory

(This is the War Department's official version, made public for the first time, of how New England's fighting 43d Division slugged it out with the Japs for possession of New Georgia island in the South Pacific last summer—and won.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—New England's untried 43d Division took everything the Japanese could hurl at it on New Georgia island and, in turn, gave the enemy a pating that, in the words of the War Department, "assures its place among the great fighting divisions of the United States."

Today, long months after that epochal battle, the story can be told of how the boys from Maine, Vermont, Rhode Island and Connecticut combined the patience of the American Indian, the cunning of the American frontiersman and the tenacity of the bulldog to overcome fanatical resistance.

OPEN ENGAGEMENT
Two companies of the 103rd Infantry and two companies of Marines opened the engagement on June 21, at the mouth of the Viru river on southeastern New Georgia. The invaders swept south and cleared out the Japs at Segi.

The men of the 43d had been told their objectives, the capture of the vitally-important Munda airfield heavily defended by the Japs.

The Japs were well dug in among the cocoanut palms and wire-like undergrowth when the 172d combat team slashed its way ashore on July 5.

Combat patrols swarmed ashore and fanned out, heading directly toward Munda. The patrols ran into the enemy at the junction of the trail to Munda and sluggish Barike River.

43RD JUMPS OFF

Patrols sought infiltration points. All night long they crept this way and that, seeking holes in the defenses. The next day another 43rd combat team came ashore, the 169th, less one battalion. Three days were spent in getting set, developing the enemy's position and reducing the stronghold.

At dawn on July 6, the 43rd jumped off on a 300-yard front, the 172nd on the left, the 169th on the right.

For a time the going was not too difficult. Keeping clear of open trails the New Englanders crept on, making full use of the undergrowth for protection.

And then, for two full days, gains were measured in yards. The Jap had to be flushed from his foxhole, picked out of a tree, blown out of the pill-boxes.

By July 19, the 172d had cleared the beaches and groves of Laiana plantation of the enemy and had advanced 2300 yards. But the 169th had not fared so well. A Jap counter-attack took a heavy toll of the 169th's leading battalion.

169TH RELIEVED

Then the 3d Battalion of the 103d combat team came ashore and part of the 37th (Ohio) Division arrived to relieve the battalion of the 169th that had been shot up so badly.

A platoon of Marine tanks rattled ashore. And on that day came the 25th Division, less its artillery, brought in from Guadalcanal. The hour had arrived for that final slug-fest for control of the Munda airfield.

Then, for six days, the Americans advanced—at the rate of 50 yards a day. The Japs literally were buried alive in their pill boxes. They had to be bombed out or burned out with flamethrowers.

By July 30, Munda was only 700 yards ahead, but 700 long, bloody yards. The enemy elected to make a last stand on Bibola hill. On August 1, the 43rd Division, holding the right of the battle line, punched its way across Lambeti plantation, the 103rd Infantry reaching the eastern edge of Munda airfield. The 172nd, on the right, ran into trouble on the eastern edge of Bibola hill, and was held up.

AIRPORT OURS

Waiting long enough to catch its breath, the 103rd set out on August 3 and smashed down all Jap resistance to reach a point opposite the middle of the airfield. The Japs put up a frantic fight, but sheer Yankee courage overcame them.

Munda airport was ours two days later. The 43rd Division had come through its baptism of fire with colors flying.

was optimistic over the possibilities that mustering-out pay would be speedily disposed of when Congress reconvenes Monday.

"They have promised," he said, "to have it out of committee before Jan. 15, and I expect they will. I will use all my power to press them to do that."

PHILBIN RAPS DELAY

Cong. Philip J. Philbin of Massachusetts also predicted that Congress, deluged by demands from the folks back home, will pass without delay a bill providing adequate mustering-out pay.

Philbin said in a telegram to editors of the Boston American:

"Despite the truly heroic efforts of representatives of Hearst newspapers throughout the country, there has been an absolutely unwarranted delay in the final passage of the mustering-out pay bill.

"I believe that when some of those who have been obstructing this legislation return to Washington after talking with their constituents, they will have a different viewpoint.

"As a member of the drafting committee of the House military affairs committee, I have every reason to believe that this measure will be reported promptly and, of course, I will continue to do everything I possibly can to that end.

MAY PROMISES ACTION

"When this legislation is out of the way, I will then ask your effective co-operation with regard to other vital veterans' legislation I have in mind."

Rep. Andrew J. May (D.) of Kentucky, chairman of the military affairs committee, has promised that his committee will report out a bill next Tuesday.

He has not, however, indicated what the terms of the committee's bill will be.

Many Congressmen fear the May bill will be inadequate and are pinning their hopes for passage of the Lemke recommendations (a year's pay), or some similar legislation, on a chance to amend the committee measure on the House floor.

A gag rule would make that impossible, and might result in defeat for proper, decent pay for the sick and wounded of America's "Unwanted Battalion" and for their still able-bodied brothers seeking jobs and adjustment to civil life.

COFFEE PLANS SPEED

Rep. Coffee, one of the fighting leaders in the pre-Christmas battle for the Lemke bill, said the group behind this bill is "organizing very militantly" to make its passage certain.

"The veterans' groups back home," he asserted, "are wholeheartedly in favor of a year's pay for discharged soldiers."

"They are men who went through the first World War and know the difficulty, the tragedy and the heartbreaks that soldiers find in trying to adjust themselves to civilian life.

"Those veterans' groups throughout the country are in very close touch, not only with the people but with the more than a million veterans of this war who have been discharged since Pearl Harbor.

"They know what their problems are, and how best they can be met."

If the May committee does report out a bill on Tuesday, it cannot be considered or the floor until Monday, giving time for mobilization of congressional sentiment, which was already aroused in favor of the Lemke bill before Christmas.

See Page 20 for story of nationwide appreciation of the William Randolph Hearst campaign that made Christmas a merry holiday for servicemen in hospitals and camps.

The PRIME of LIFE Can Be Prolonged

DR. HENRY C. SHERMAN SAYS:

"A generous supply of Calcium results in better development of the young, a higher form of adult health, and a longer lease of what we may call the prime of life, the period between maturity and old age."

AM I OLD AT 40?

Old age at 40, 50, 60 or even later when the body longer builds new cells to replace old cells as fast as they wear out. Prime of Calcium, an important element in self building, helps fight the onset of OLD AGE and PROLONGS THE PRIME OF LIFE as it helps build new body cells.

ARE MY NAILS BRITTLE?

Calcium is an essential mineral in the nails, bones and teeth, fully as essential as it is for the soft tissues. A Calcium deficiency does not always react in the same manner in different people—in some it may mean weak, brittle nails that break and split easily.

Food rationing may not supply sufficient calcium says Claude Wickard, U. S. Sec. of Agriculture

A generous supply of Calcium with Phosphorus and Vitamin D is required for the normal Calcium-Phosphorus balance that is essential to health. Calcium, potassium and reconstructive, is needed in the growth and repair of organs, glands, cells and tissues.

AM I NERVOUS?

High tension and sleeplessness or ragged, jittery, jumpiness in the body is properly classed as Calcium deficiency which disturbs the normal rhythm of the nervous system. KAL is rich in Calcium Phosphorus and Vitamin D and B1, all in splendid proportions.

CALCIUM — PHOSPHORUS VITAMIN D — VITAMIN B1

Calcium, Phosphorus and Vitamin D—all three are required together, in the body to properly absorb and retain and use Vitamin B1, an important factor in metabolism, is valuable in association with Calcium, Phosphorus and Vitamin D. KAL is a delectably rich in these elements and furnishes them in the proper proportions. Add KAL to your daily diet—see how much better you feel after KAL helps you overcome a deficiency of these essential and helps you maintain a normal Calcium-Phosphorus balance.

SCHOOL PUPILS TO PUSH SALE OF WAR BONDS

When the Fourth War Loan drive opens Jan. 18, the 840,000 pupils in Massachusetts' 2500 schools will assume the roles of active bond salesmen, to help in the task of selling bonds and stamps at a rate of $7100 each minute, $430,000 an hour, or $10,300,000 each day of the campaign.

As Junior Minute Men, the boys and girls will be asked to double all previous efforts in helping raise the quotas of their communities. Sales to friends and neighbors will be credited to the pupils' respective schools.

For the Fourth War Loan schools in Massachusetts will embark on a "Buy a Plane" campaign, with the Army Air Corps permitting six types of planes to be sponsored and financed by pupils' War Bond sales.

These range from a Fairchild PT-19, or training plane, at $15,000, to the B-17, or Flying Fortress, at $450,000. Included are the P-51 Mustang pursuit plane, at $75,000; the Douglas C-53 ambulance plane, at $110,000; the Mitchell B-25 medium bomber, at $175,000, and the Liberator B-24 heavy bomber, at $300,000.

The Massachusetts quota for the Fourth War Loan is $794,000,000. Of this $258,000,000, or 32.5 per cent, is allotted to sales of individuals. This means $65 for every man, woman and child throughout the state.

Norwell Mother Gets Air Medal for Son

An Air Medal, awarded to Tech. Sergt. Rodney Earl Demars of Norwell for "meritorious achievement in aerial flight," was the proud possession today of his mother, Mrs. Blanche Henderson, following a presentation ceremony at Camp Davis, N. C.

Mrs. Henderson, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Camp Davis, received the medal from Brig-Gen. C. V. R. Schuyler on behalf of her son, who has been held a prisoner in Germany since he was shot down last February.

STABBED IN THE BACK BY ARTHRITIS

Now is the time of the year when Arthritis is on the loose, stabbing victims after victims with its deadly dagger of pain.

If you are one of those unfortunate people, here is important information for you to know. Many people suffering from nagging arthritis pains in back, knees, shoulders and hands, never suspect that these pains may be caused, in some cases, by excessive acids within the body.

As a dietary aid in the faster neutralization of these excessive acids which in turn may tend to bring speedier pain relief to this extent, Vig-Ore Rodomon Tablets were devised by a well-known food nutritionist. Vig-Ore Rodomon Tablets contain food sodium and food boric, two minerals of nutritional value which may prove to be helpful to many arthritis sufferers. Vig-Ore Rodomon Tablets are free from all harmful chemical drugs. They positively do not contain injurious ingredients of any kind.

CUT OUT THIS ADVERTISEMENT and present it with $1.25 at any National Food Centre Store to get your Vig-Ore Rodomon Tablets. Take them as directed on the label and if they do not bring something relief to your aching joints and muscles faster than any other dietary aid you have ever used. THE TRIAL IS FREE! A 'Competent Attorney'

ATTORNEY GENERAL BUSHNELL has turned over to Police Commissioner Sullivan all the "evidence" in the police cases he finally decided wouldn't stand court-room scrutiny. He says, in effect:

"Here's a job I worked on for a year and couldn't finish. Because of charges I made but never proved, the Governor appointed you police commissioner. The court wouldn't admit this evidence but you'd better act upon it in order to justify the Governor and yourself."

We think the Commissioner should have told Mr. Bushnell's baby right back into Mr. Bushnell's lap, wet idles and all.

We think the Commissioner should have told Mr. Bushnell:

"Not me, Bobby. You've embarrassed the Governor and myself enough as it is. You forced the Governor to drop Joe Timilty in the face of thousands of protests when the Governor believed you really could prove your charges. You forced me to suspend the men you indicted in the belief you had the stuff. It took you six months to admit you didn't have it and now you want me to act on evidence you couldn't introduce in court. Bobby, the child is yours."

That's what we think the Commissioner should have said. Instead, he said he would hire a "competent attorney"—at more cost to the taxpayers—to explore the evidence Mr. Bushnell decided not to show a Superior Court justice.

Mr. Sullivan better beware of a mousetrap play here. For he has already publicly commended one of the officers Mr. Bushnell indicted on this same evidence.

Anyway, we think the public is heartily sick of the whole business and we don't think they want to be taxed any more dollars for anything in connection with it. If the evidence is worthy of the name it should have been presented in a courtroom before a judge and jury. When Mr. Bushnell apologized for it with the no-props of an indictment he had left hanging for six months he should have contributed this evidence to the waste paper drive.

We have great faith in Mr. Sullivan's integrity. His job is difficult and the reward for discharging it honorably can be a huge heartache—as witness his predecessor.

And there are many pitfalls in it. One may fall, or be pushed.

Mr. Bushnell spent a year of the taxpayers' time and thousands of the taxpayers' dollars in an overzealous application of his talents to a case he predicted would rock the city.

Then, as chief law officer of the Commonwealth, at a salary of $8360, he came up with nothing for judge and jury—only something for a "competent attorney" to investigate.

A Presumptuous Request

GEORGE G. HYLAND, Boston public works commissioner, reports a serious manpower shortage in his department. Because of Selective Service demands and the attraction of lucrative war plant jobs, not enough men can be found to keep the city as spic and span as Mr. Hyland would like to have it.

Accordingly, Mr. Hyland recently asked the Army and Navy to lend him fifty men each for two days to assist in the collection of ashes and refuse in Dorchester, where conditions were particularly bad.

But, he says, the officers with whom he talked declined to act, on the ground they lacked authority to assign service men to civilian tasks of that nature.

Of course, the officers did the proper thing. And it was rash and presumptuous for Mr. Hyland to make such a request.

The men who have gone into the Army and Navy disrupted their lives to defend their country.

They did not put on khaki and blue to be drafted for any kind of work, including the collection of refuse and ashes.

To ask soldiers and sailors to help save a fruit or vegetable crop threatened by frost or to assist in the saving of lives during a flood or fire is both permissible and desirable.

But to ask them to take over duties that have been an accepted part of every municipality's public service for years is emphatically a horse of another color.

The time to prove that a man employed in sanitation is an essential employee is before he goes into uniform.

Mr. Lodge's Timely Warning

SENATOR HENRY CABOT LODGE, Jr., of Massachusetts is concerned over United States airfields in foreign lands. A few days ago he told a Boston audience:

"We Americans must have access to these airfields and installations in all parts of the world after the war is over. None of us should forget that they were built with American money, more than five hundred million dollars of it."

The Senator is absolutely right. We shall need airfields abroad to attain our rightful place in world aviation.

And by all the rules of logic and justice we are entitled to some return for the money we have invested.

Nothing could cool our friendship toward a foreign nation more than the knowledge that our global aircraft was being barred from flying fields which we ourselves planned and constructed.

Oh, dear, dear Jeanie Morrison,
The thoughts of bygone years
Still fling their shadows o'er my path

And blind my eyes with tears.
—MOTHERWELL.

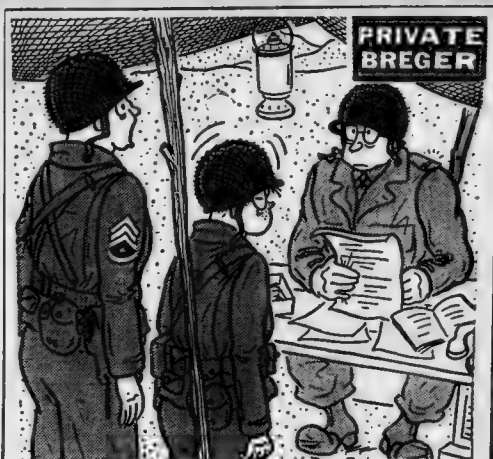

GIRLS named Jeanie seem to have inspired considerable song and poetry. They must be lovable types. How are the Jeanies in your neighborhood doing? . . . As to whether the women of Germany are responsible for the Hitler regime, attention is called to what Der Fuehrer stated in his most recent speech: "It is among German women that I have always found my most fanatical followers" . . . Many smart men are buying farms these days. They think a farm will be really something to possess in the postwar period. I think a good kind of farm to own would be a tobacco farm. . . . One of the largest of the gasoline companies has developed a type of gasoline that will give 40 miles to a gallon. It will not be retained until after the war.

MRS. AMERICA: Has your wife a good figure? Don't answer me, it is none of my business. Besides, it is not important in the making of a good wife and mother. However, if you have thought your mate might have a chance of winning the Mrs. America Bathing Beauty Contest, here is a way of finding out whether she is properly proportioned. Originator of this system is Doree Smedley, author of "You're Only Young Twice." To be in the shapely class, your wife's figure should be seven and a half times the length of her head. Her neck, one-third the length of her head. Shoulders, three times as wide as her head. Her bust at widest point, on a line with the armpit or slightly below it. The waistline should be at slightly less than two-thirds of the figure from the ground. Her hips, the width of an arm wider than her bust.

PASSING BY: Ted Atkinson, Country's leading jockey. He's from Brooklyn, too. . . . Douglas "Ga Ga" Mills, University of Illinois physical director and basketball coach. When great Illinois athletes of all time are mentioned everybody seems to forget Jake Stahl. Jake was also a good major league ball player. . . . Greer Garson. She was mis-cast in Madame Curie. Miss Garson is one of this department's three favorite actresses. We will let this current miscasting pass but if it happens again will start to complain bitterly.

WISE ANIMAL: Timothy D. Sullivan once said: "If you can't beat them, join them." But, of course, he wasn't the first to think of this idea. The dog thought of it thousands of years ago when he decided he couldn't beat man and decided to join him. It was Oliver Goldsmith who wrote: "Of all the beasts that graze the lawn or hunt the forest, a dog is the only animal that, leaving his fellows, attempts to cultivate the friendship of man; to man he looks in all his needs."

ities with a speaking eye for assistance; exerts for him all the little services in his power with cheerfulness and pleasure; for him bears fatigue and famine with patience and resignation; no injuries can abate his fidelity; no distress induce him to forsake his benefactor."

Do you play any musical instrument. A. No. I wish I could play the piano. Then, instead of slinging in the shower, I would bang out, "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning," with a lusty vocal accompaniment. Maybe I'll take some lessons. . . . Q. Has there ever been winter racing in an Eastern State? A. Winter meetings were held in the very dim past at Guttenberg, N. J. Horses can run in any kind of weather so it wasn't hard on them but the patrons had to have an enclosed and heated grandstand.

AS WE WERE: Interest in reincarnation has increased considerably during the past two years, but students of the subject cannot seem to agree on the time which elapses between existences. Dr. Eugen Kolisko says: "We are not reincarnated only once but continue to be born again. The average time between our existences is 1000 years." I wonder what I was doing about this time a thousand years ago.

SAYS HE: "So women claim men are color blind and know nothing of colors, and that this ignorance causes men to wear ridiculous combinations of ties and shirts," writes a New Yorker. "If females are so smart about color, why is it you so often see a tall or plump woman wearing a red, purple or yellow dress which makes her look larger. Any student of color, male or female, knows the stylish stout types should stick to black. And here's another thing—if men are color blind and do not know how to combine colors, how is it that all the great painters in the history of the world have been men?"

NAVY WIFE: "As for that Navy wife who is worried about the tarnished gold braid on her husband's uniform," writes a Tacoma, Wash., subscriber. "My husband was on the Wasp. When he returned all the gold braid was tarnished from months at sea. That's the way with the gold braid of most men who have been in action. It is something to be proud of, not to worry about. Only desk job officers worry about tarnished gold braid on their uniforms."

My Day By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY—January 6, 1944, marks the 25th anniversary of ex-President Theodore Roosevelt's death. There is a poem written by his sister, the late Mrs. Douglas Robinson, called "Valiant for Truth," which I think many people would find profitable to read again on this day.

But I want to recall the great contribution which I feel he made to the young people while living. I think it has a special bearing on the problems which we face in the present day. Theodore Roosevelt never failed to convey to young people that he believed they should take an active part in the public affairs of their community and of their nation. He thought every man and woman faced first their family responsibilities, but he was quick to point out that these could not be faced fully without recognizing the tie that the family had to the community and the obligation that each member of the family could discharge only by being a good citizen.

MANY OF US are apt to think of government activities as something quite apart from our daily lives. Theodore Roosevelt made you feel that every act in your daily life was a part of your citizenship.

HE HAD VERY LITTLE patience with those who kept aloof from public life because they disliked criticism or might have to deal with disagreeable situations. Theodore Roosevelt's life should be remembered by young people, for it will encourage them to enter into the arena where public questions are threshed out, in spite of the fact that they will have to take some pretty disagreeable mud-slinging and verbal castigation at times.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 6.—Susan Peters, who just hopped off the train yesterday because she wanted to stay with her bridegroom, Richard Quine, until the very last minute, is on the Metro lot today with her script under her arm.

If ever a girl were in love it is Susie. But she also happens to be one of the most up-and-coming young stars on the Metro lot—and there are movies to be made.

Her first since she became Mrs. Quine will be "Strangers in the Dark," based on Millen Brand's "Outward Room." I read that book some time ago and, as I remember, it is the story of a girl who escapes from an asylum, meets a man who helps her and in time she recovers her mental balance. Jules Dassin will direct and Edwin Knopf, who personally selected Susie, is the producer.

VICTOR MCGLENN has been honeymooning with his bride on the old Balle Ranch near Fresno. That is the estate which Mrs. Gary Cooper's stepfather bought and sold to Vic. He raises cattle and produce for the government and it is one of California's largest ranches. Vic will leave it all when he reports to Samuel Goldwyn to play "The Hook" in "Treasure Chest." He is a swashbuckling heavy and Bob Hope's nemesis. Sam, who will go to Palm Springs with Frances, will start the Hope comedy when he returns. It's to be in technicolor with all the trimmings.

LET ME WHISPER something out loud. James Cardwell, who plays the eldest son in "The Sullivans," is really a find. I know, because I saw this picture, which, as I said, is one of the surprise movies of the new year. It's so human and such a fine story of a real American family. Well, Cardwell, who comes from the stage, gets the lead in the Benny Goodman movie based on the life story of the jazz expert and it has music and interest and is set for one of the 20th's early 1944 movies.

WHEN I PROPHESED there would be fewer war pictures in 1943 I didn't mean there wouldn't be any! Columbia has bought one of the really big war stories of last year in "Counter-Attack," a play by Janet and Philip Stevenson which had a good run on Broadway. It's about a group of Germans who are captured by two Russians in a deserted village and imprisoned in a cellar. The production has been turned over to Zoltan Korda, who just won a long-term contract for himself at Columbia following "Sahara." There's no cast, but Korda is expected to use the new studio dramatic find, Nina Foch, in the movie's role.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Don't be surprised to hear that Fay McKenzie and Robert Cummings have taken the big step. Also, get ready for the announced date of Alexis Smith's marriage to Craig Stevens. He returned yesterday and as soon as Alexis recovers from the flu they will name the day; Walter Huston is entertaining Col. Hugh Stewart, a friend of his son, Capt. John Huston. The Colonel brought him a letter from Johnny; Gail Patrick, pretty as a picture, was at Preminger's dinner guest Monday.

MARTHA RAYE's mother has been very ill with a serious internal ailment; Martha herself has just had a throat operation; Joe McMichael of the Merry Macs and Inez James, femme composer, have set Jan. 24 as their wedding date; Louis B. Mayer's niece, Helen Hoffmann, and Ray Sandler, local attorney, are expected to announce their engagement very soon; Kay Williams' brother, Vincent, has been tested at M-G-M for a term acting contract; John Gunther is on his way here on holiday-business-trip.

IDOLLYWOOD, Jan. 6.—Ida Lupino has just been given the out-of-town Oscar from the film critics for her performance in "The Hard Way." This means that the critics believe she gave the best performance of any actress in any picture.

Star Shine

It's a nice reward for her, and the title of that picture is almost the story of her career in pictures, for that's how she came up—the hard way.

For a long time she played stock bits or silly ingenues, or posed for fan magazine art. She couldn't get a good dramatic role. In fact, her first picture work

SHE WAS BORN on February 4, 1917, in Brixton, England. She attended two private schools in London, and her ambition was to go on the stage. She started her theatrical career when she was 19. She wore high heels and played a bit in an English movie. She's five feet three inches tall, weighs 105 pounds, has brown hair and violet eyes. She doesn't like her face. She says she has "a pixie kind of face."

Ida Lupino

She has a phobia for scrubbing her nails. She goes into the bathroom and scrubs her nails on the average of 30 times a day. She does it whenever she's nervous.

Her chief hobby is buying old guns. The chandelier in her playroom, which she made herself, is two shotguns, crossed.

She is married to Capt. Louis Hayward of the U. S. Marines, who distinguished himself at Tarawa.

SHE MET her husband in a roller-coaster at Venice. They were both in a party at the beach, and they happened to get into the same seat. They flirted, but didn't speak. A couple of days later he got her phone number and invited her out. That's how the romance started. He calls her "Poppet," a name he gave her when they first met. She calls him "The Old Boy."

She likes to walk around the house without any shoes on. She likes to stay up late at night and she hates to get out of bed in the morning.

She smokes a cigarette and reads a book in bed before going to sleep. Her favorite authors are John Steinbeck and James Hill. Her favorite food is fried chicken and candied sweet potatoes. She lives in a rambling house in a canyon near Brentwood. Inside, it's decorated in New England style.

THE RADIO ANNOUNCER

(MALE) who was kissed full on the lips to his extreme embarrassment and the shocked delight of a holiday New York night club by a Broadway-Hollywood personage who is also of the male persuasion, has something additional to worry about now . . . The personage, a fellow of many talents including a knack with magic which extends to an ability "to saw a woman in half," has come down with jaundice, complicated with influenza . . . The latter malady is both contagious and infectious, but pals of the radio announcer (who has gone into hiding while the yarn of his affectionate greeting by the Broadway-Hollywood personage spreads like wildfire through the Big Town) have convinced him that jaundice can be communicated by osculation, too.

JAKE SHUBERT DIDN'T BEHAVE VERY nicely either when he was in Boston, and if hit-producer Michael Todd didn't have a sense of humor, the Shubert box office would be the least congenial cubicle of any theater in the East. . . . Jake had a couple of hairs across his bombing vision when he landed in Boston and while in a Scrooge-like mood, Producer Todd seemed like an easy target for Jacob J's TNT. . . . "Who's Who in the Theater" lists Jacob J. Shubert as "associated with his brother, Lee, in theater management."

JAKE ALSO PRODUCES operettas like "America Sings," "Full Steam Ahead" and "The Moon Also Rises" (which a Boston critic once dubbed "The Moon Also Sets"). . . . The corporate partnership, however, must give him some kind of supervision over box offices, because when he drew a bead on Mr. Todd he was firing at a petty larceny box office practice in handling tickets which no self-respecting producer (like Mr. Todd) would indulge in. . . . Mr. Jacob J. Shubert accused Producer Todd of taking blocks of seats from the racks of "Mexican Hayride" (which he has a perfect right to do in view of his ownership of 70 per cent of the gross receipts) and of selling these tickets to ticket agencies.

JACOB J. FORBODE the trembling box-office attaches to give Mr. Todd a "bundle of tickets," and issued a fiat which made it mandatory for Mr. Todd's Boston friends, who are legion, to come to the box-office and make their purchases across the window. . . . With some of his previous hits, Producer Todd has extracted hundreds of tickets from the racks, charging the full price of such tickets to his "end" of the receipts. . . . Michael would thereupon distribute these ducats to his friends—spurning, in most cases, the money which the friends offered for the precious pasteboards.

ON THE PRINCIPLE that friends are nice things to have, and that a friend is entitled to the beautiful prerogative of not having to tag along with the usual long lines of prospective customers who invariably queue up before a Todd attraction's box-office, Producer Todd has always taken away "full tickets" from his various box-offices. Other top producers do the same thing, of course.

WITH "MEXICAN HAYRIDE" temporarily, it is different than with other Todd hits. . . . Mike simply didn't wish to annoy himself by tangleing with the suspicious Jacob J. Shubert, and the incident has been converted into a belly-laugh. . . . The hilarious notion that Mr. Todd, who thinks (and deals) in millions would bother to "bustle" tickets for his own show and distribute them to ticket speculators for a "cut" of the premium is flatly ridiculous. . . . Anyone who knows Mr. Todd can do nothing but become convulsed at the notion. . . . Nevertheless, Mr. Todd's long acquaintances and in-laws (Mrs. Todd being a Brookline girl) are standing in long lines now like the folks who haven't a charge account with a ticket agency, or who don't happen to know anybody connected with the show or the theater. . . . Exepteine Jacob J. Shubert, naturally, or perhaps his brother, Lee.

20 Pledge by Bricker Aids Cause of Vets

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 6.—Gov. John W. Bricker, in an interview today said that if Congress does not speedily enact legislation providing adequate mustering out pay for discharged veterans of this war, he will see to it that Ohio itself will take care of the veterans of this state requiring this protective assistance.

"It is almost inconceivable," said Gov. Bricker, in his office in the state Capitol, "that Congress will fail to discharge this solemn duty to the distressed casualties of this great war."

"The obligation rests upon Congress. Congress should act and should act promptly, and I feel sure that in response to the overwhelming public opinion of the country it will do so.

"The necessity is great, and it is immediate. Congress cannot fail the men and women of the armed service who have given everything they have to their country. But if Congress should fail, then Ohio will look after her own."

Gov. Bricker has announced that he will shortly call the Ohio legislature in extraordinary session to enact legislation to bring state law into conformity with any legislation which may be enacted by Congress to enable the men and women of the armed service to vote in the presidential, congressional and local elections this year.

As Ohio's candidate for the Republican nomination for President, with the solid backing of this state's delegation, the governor's views on national and international post-war problems are naturally attracting the widest attention.

Aid of Hearst Press To Vets Wins Praise

Telegrams complimenting the Hearst newspapers for raising funds for wounded and sick servicemen include the following:

W. R. HEARST:

As governor of the state of Michigan, I wish to commend the Detroit Times and the Hearst newspapers for the fine job that was done in the Santa for Servicemen campaign.

Thanks to the efforts of the Times, the generous citizens of Michigan saw to it no soldier or sailor confined to a military hospital was forgotten on Christmas.

HARRY F. KELLY.

W. R. HEARST:

You and the members of the Detroit Times are to be highly commended on the recent Christmas program in which not only the patients confined to military hospitals, but also servicemen and women stationed in Michigan were remembered with Christmas gifts.

Please accept the thanks of a man who knows what remembrances like these can do for the morale of our boys and girls in uniform.

REV. FR. RAYMOND S. CLANCY, Archdiocesan Co-ordinator for National Catholic Community Service, and vice-chairman of the Executive Board of the USO.

W. R. HEARST:

The more I observe this war, the more I am convinced that the lowliest man in our armed forces is a hero. Anything that is done for him, be it ever so little, is worthwhile. Without these boys, you and I would have nothing. Your efforts in bringing Christmas to servicemen were especially worthwhile, because of their wide scope and because of the special effort to reach those among the living who have contributed most. I refer to the wounded veterans in our hospitals.

EDWARD J. JEFFRIES, JR., Mayor, City of Detroit.

W. R. HEARST:

Twelve thousand members of the American Legion in Detroit are unanimous in their praise of the Hearst papers Christmas activity for wounded servicemen in hospitals in Michigan and for those who are in camps and stations in this area. We know because we have met and talked to these lads how very much they appreciated this kindly Christmas thought. Please accept the thanks of the veterans of the last war for what the Detroit Times did this Christmas.

L. GLEN SHIELDS, Dist. Comdr. American Legion.

W. R. HEARST:

The generosity and patriotism displayed by the Detroit Times in sponsoring the distribution of Christmas gifts to soldiers in the camps and hospitals in Michigan, particularly to those wounded men in Percy Jones General Hospital, was a highly commendable contribution to the war effort.

S. D. RINGSDORF, Colonel, F. A. Commanding Headquarters District No. 1, Sixth Service Command, A. S. F., United States Army, Detroit, Mich.

W. R. HEARST:

Congratulations on your splendid efforts to enlist public support to provide Christmas gifts for enlisted personnel serving at Michigan Army and Navy posts.

A. J. BERRER, Manager, Detroit Chapter, American Red Cross.

Navy Boys Need Your Percolator

Can't you spare a coffee percolator for the Navy boys who are fighting our battles on every sea?

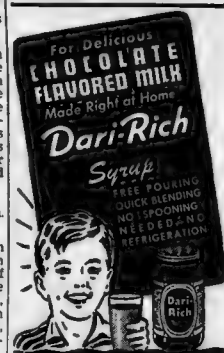

There is a shortage aboard our ships, both old and new, and more than a score of requests for them have been received by the Record-American, whose readers always have been the first to respond generously.

One request came from a Hyde Park sailor, member of a crew of a destroyer that has been in valiant action in the Pacific area.

Readers may send or bring them to the City Editor, Boston Record-American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston. Or we will try to pick up the percolators at homes in Greater Boston if readers notify the City Editor by postcard.

Car Registration Up

Despite aging motors and tires, there are 33,511 more Massachusetts automobiles on the road today than there were a year ago. The registry of motor vehicles reported 689,067 cars registered thus far in 1944.

Tea Opens Hammond Art Exhibit

By BETTY ALDEN

MANY HAPPY RETURNS. The dinner in town and movie with which Mr. and Mrs. Henry Webster Palmer, Jr., of Milton are celebrating their sixth wedding anniversary tonight is a doubly exciting event in the present scheme of things.

Typical of many patriotic social registerites, Henry, former vice-president of an advertising agency, has given up his former business and taken a job on the night shift of a war plant. His new hours preclude most of the dining and dancing he and Gwen used to enjoy in the pre-war era and she says even a movie in town at night is a big event nowadays.

They were married at a picturesque ceremony in Leslie Lindsay Memorial Chapel and had the kind of honeymoon today's bridal couples long for—a six-week cruise through the West Indies and a motor trip through Florida. Mrs. Palmer was the widow of Charles H. Fargo of Chicago. She is the former Gwendolyn Hart, daughter of Mrs. Francis Hart of Boston, and has two sons, Charles and Bronson Fargo.

DEBORAH BANKHART—
Sprains ankle while skiing in Vermont.

ABOUT ONE HUNDRED friends enjoyed the private view of Natalie Hays Hammond's paintings, drawings and needlepoint at the Vose Galleries. But for the benefit of those who were not there we can't resist describing the dramatic costume in which she received. Over a simple black dinner gown with frilly white touches at the neckline was a full length black broadcloth opera cape lined with white satin and fastened under the chin with big satin frogs. White orchids were pinned to her cape.

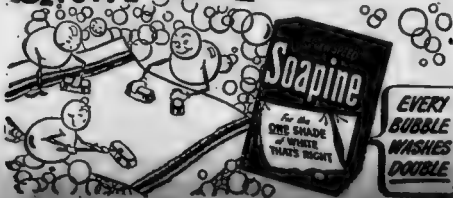

The long tea table was decorated with Birds of Paradise and poppy seeds which blended with the exquisite needlepoint tapestries and colorful paintings which every one admired. Guests included Miss Ellen Ballard, the Jan Smelters, Mrs. Alvan Fuller, Mrs. Franklin Hobbs, Mrs. Wallace Goodrich and Miss Alice D. Laughlin whose exhibit of book illustrations and woodcuts opens in the same galleries on the 13th. Miss Laughlin, only member of the American Stain Glass Academy, did the woodcut illustrations for Emil Ludwig's "Lincoln."

DEBORAH BANKHART of Swampscott, one of the top U. S. feminine skiers, is taking a temporary respite from winter sports to rest and recuperate from a sprained ankle at her family's farm in Vermont. This attractive post deb, known to thousands of ski enthusiasts as Debbie, is a certified instructor.

In Disguise

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Jan. 6 (AP)—When a drifter board worker, Mrs. Mercedes Clark spied two youths wearing Nazi uniforms, she grabbed them by the belts and wouldn't let go until they proved they were Americans. They said they were carrying out an assignment of their commanding officer, but would not reveal its nature.

CURVACEOUS Ann Corio, former belle of burlesque, stars in "The Sultan's Daughter," new comedy hit on the Trans-Lux. It's another triumph for the Boston favorite.

TRAVEL WEARY Jean Arthur and her snoring seatmate Mary Wickes see America by bus in "The Lady Takes a Chance," held over for a third week at Keith-Memorial.

CORIO FILM TOP COMEDY

Ann Corio's Boston fans will be pleased to find that her latest film, "The Sultan's Daughter," does right by Annie's beauty of face and figure, and is as well a genuinely amusing comedy.

In Ann's earlier screen ventures, the photography and production has not been satisfactory, but in this one, which opened up yesterday at the Trans-Lux she is quite as beautiful, even in close-ups, as she was when she first charmed the customers at the Old Howard.

As the title suggests, the action and there is plenty of it... takes place in a harem, with Charlie Butterworth as an ineffectual, apologetic sultan. He is at his best in this film; in fact, his performance should re-establish him as one of the top comedians.

The picture should do something, too, for Edward Norris, a handsome and romantic leading man, and for Tim and Irene of radio fame, who are teamed to excellent advantage in this mad farce.

Eddie Norris and Tim play a pair of roving American vaudevillians who got into trouble with the native police. They meet the Sultan's daughter and Irene, her American friend and teacher, who are slumming incognito in the village.

From here in the fun is fast and furious. The Yanks become the innocent pawns of the Nazi boys, the whole palace goes jitterbug, the bewildered Sultan is kidnapped and his throne usurped, and our heroes land in jail. But, of course, everything turns out elegantly, with Uncle Sam winning the oil rights and boy getting girl.

The companion feature is "Suspected Person," an exciting gangster film with Clifford Evans and Patricia Roc in the leading roles.

Last Four Performances

Only four more performances remain for two comedies, "The Doughgirls" at the Colonial and "Abie's Irish Rose" at the Plymouth, both of which have enjoyed unusually long runs in Boston.

Yiddish Play Billed for Copley on Feb. 1

Maurice Schwartz's production of "The Family Carnovsky," currently playing at the Yiddish Art Theater on Broadway, will come to the Copley Theater for a two-week stay on Tuesday, Feb. 1.

"The Family Carnovsky" pictures the tragic episodes that engulf a typical Jewish family in Berlin during the early Hitlerite days.

Take It Easy on Scarce Fats; Here's How to Conserve 'Em

By MARTHA LEE

WITH SEVERAL SCARCE fats at high ration point values, the average American homemaker is giving careful consideration to the fat she uses in baking. Keeping in mind the high shortening power, the ration point economy, and the economy of lard in dollars and cents, Mrs. American Housewife can continue to serve her family delicious baked products such as these:

MINCEMEAT DROP COOKIES

3/4 cups flour 1 tsp. soda
1/2 tsp. salt 1 cup lard
1 1/2 cups brown sugar 3 eggs
1 1/2 tsp. hot water
1/4 cup chopped nuts
1 1/2 cups or 1 9-oz. pkg. dry mincemeat
2 tsp. vanilla
Sift flour, measure and sift again with soda and salt. Cream lard and sugar thoroughly. Add eggs and beat. Add water. Combine nuts with flour mixture. Break up mincemeat and add all.

Rationing MEAT, BUTTER, ETC.

ternately with dry ingredients to creamed mixture. Add vanilla. Drop from a teaspoon onto a cookie sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (375 deg. F.) for 15 minutes. Makes 4 dozen cookies.

BACON-IZED CORN MUFFINS

1 cup flour 1 cup corn meal
1/4 cup sugar 1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. soda 1 egg
Bacon 1 cup sour milk
2 tbsp. lard or bacon drippings
Sift the flour once before measuring. Sift flour, cornmeal, sugar, baking powder, soda and salt together. Beat the egg and add milk. Combine with flour mixture. Add melted shortening and mix well. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full. Sprinkle tops of muffins with uncooked diced bacon. Bake 15 minutes in hot oven (400 deg. F.), then set muffins under broiler, so that bacon may become crisp.

FLUFFY WAFFLES

2 cups flour 1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. baking powder
1 1/2 cups milk 2 eggs
6 tbsp. melted lard
1 tbsp. sugar, if desired
Sift flour and measure. Sift flour, baking powder, sugar and salt together. Add egg yolks and milk and beat thoroughly. Add melted lard. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into the batter. Put 4 to 6 tablespoons of batter into waffle iron. Bake until waffles steaming. Makes 6 waffles.

BAKING POWDER BISCUITS

2 cups flour 1 tsp. salt
2 tsp. baking powder
2 tbsp. lard (1/4 for shortcake)

2-3 to 1/2 cup milk
Mix and sift dry ingredients. Cut in lard with two knives or with a pastry blender until mixture has the consistency of coarse corn meal. Add the milk. Stir well with a fork until the dough clings in a ball. Turn on a lightly floured surface and knead lightly for one-half minute. Pat or roll one-half inch thick and cut with small biscuit cutter dipped in flour. Place on baking sheet and bake in hot oven (450 deg. F.) for 12 to 15 minutes. For drop biscuits, add more milk and drop from spoon onto greased baking sheet or into small muffin tins.

IF NATURE HASN'T BLESSED you with a curly head or rosy cheeks . . . you do something about it, don't you? . . . Well, why leave your hands out in the cold? Don't envy beautiful hands . . . have them! Then you'll be able to hold hands across the table with your Heart . . . and He and you'll both be SO proud. Stand in front of a mirror and toy with your hands in phantom demonstration of their grace and expression . . . Are you satisfied with them? Do they bespeak the hands of leisure . . . slim, trim, comely fingers that can poise a lily-stemmed glass with distinction and elegance? Or do you hide them in shame . . . because the dirt and the dust and neglect have made them unsightly and ugly?

Dream a little and care a little . . . and make them meaningful . . . for it doesn't take much to routinize hands into the way of beauty.

Try washing them . . . your hands and your wrists . . . with a hand cream . . . literally, washing them with a hand cream marvellous as a cleanser and even more remarkable as a lubricant. Do this once or twice a day until you're proud of your hands again.

DRY THEM WELL

Soap and water washing of hands isn't what roughens and chaps the hands . . . Not rinsing off the soap entirely . . . failing to dry the hands thoroughly . . . this brings about all the trouble. Supplementing the soap and water regime with this creamy, shell-pink lotion is so softening . . . so fragrant . . . that you'll find it a quick and positive help to tired, roughened hands. You'll be delighted with it.

Of course, hands, like the rest of you, are all the better for regular exercise.

If you do any work that keeps your hands pretty much in one position . . . such as writing, typing, sewing, or working with small machine parts in the war plants . . . the simplest form of relief for those cramped fingers is to let your arms drop to your sides . . . completely limp . . . and then shake them hard. No, clench and unclench them.

But an easy way . . . and perhaps more convenient home method . . . is to bathe your hands in a hand cream . . . Then, with elbows out, smooth the cream down over each finger with a good strong yank. Pull hard . . . and, repeat this procedure until tired.

TAKE HONEST PRIDE

Incidentally, while you're subduing and eliminating such trials as hangnails, rough knuckles and wrists with this efficacious and fragrant cream . . . don't forget chapped elbows, ankles and calves.

Most of all . . . learn to take an honest pride in your hands. For the name of this hand cream, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, except the weekend, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DON'T ENVY beautiful hands . . . have them! All women's hands have grace—in varying degrees. Learn to take an honest pride in your hands . . . if you haven't before. And don't forget chapped elbows, ankles and calves.

Middle Marriage Boredom Hard Problem to Overcome

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX—I'm 33 years old, married nine years and we have a 5-year-old youngster. I love my husband dearly, but am unable to laugh or enjoy myself with him any longer. He has continually hurt and humiliated me now for about a year. He goes out frequently with his friends and occasionally there are women. "Lately he has been drinking. He has always been a good provider; is kind and considerate. Devoted to our daughter. He says he has no feeling toward me except that I'm "nice to have around" and I make him comfortable. It seemed to me as though he were speaking of our living-room couch. It's so humiliating.

Do you think it would be best to part—legally? He might find someone who would make him happy. And I might forget and be happier. Our child never hears any arguments; the few we have are behind closed doors. Neither one of us displays a temper. So I don't think she will be harmed until she's older and then I don't think she'll be proud of either of us.—B. L. H.

Is this just a case of the boredom that so often settles down on marriage in those trying middie years? When you tell me your husband is a good provider; kind and considerate, and devoted to your youngster, I'm inclined to think he may snap out of those marital doldrums that almost every marriage falls into at some time or other. At present a divorce seems to me as inadvisable as a needless surgical operation. First and last, your little daughter is to be considered. Don't give the child a home broken by divorce if you can help it.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

We're very anxious to get in touch with a young soldier whom we used to know years ago. Where shall we write to get his address?

GIFT FOR HIM?—It's customary to let the man start the gift-exchanging. However, if a man who has frequently taken you out or spent money on you is entering the service, a "going-away" gift is appropriate.

Harmonize Clothes

By BETTINA BEDWELL

I THINK that about the most important resolve a girl can make for 1944, when it comes to her clothes, is to see to it that they don't fight each other, using her as a battleground.

There's no more discouraging sight than a get-up that is ill-assorted, even though the individual items worn may each be beautiful, smart and correct by itself. I have seen women dressed up in fine taste, but wearing shoes that were in revolt against all the finery.

And the same thing goes, and more so, for the wrong hat, the wrong coat, dress, blouse or anything else in the clothes line. A bad, tawdry bit of jewelry can defeat your best dress strategy. And as for colors assembled on your person, if they do nothing but snarl and fight among themselves, you are going to be the victim. Be ruthless as a good general and cut any item that doesn't get along with the rest.

JVA Hails Weymouth 4-H Club

Junior Victory Army members who are also members of Massachusetts 4-H clubs are pointing with pride to the Weymouth Heights 4-H Conservation Club, which has been awarded the Hugh P. Baker conservation trophy for 1943, it was announced today. The Weymouth club took second place in the 1943 contest. This year's runner-up is the Victory Eagles 4-H Conservation Club, of Longmeadow. The six children who compose the Weymouth Heights winners have had both individual conservation projects and special club projects. Each member kept a health chart and they had as their club motto, "Fit for Service." The patriotic group also helped in war service activities, collecting scrap metal, rubber and rags, selling war savings stamps, running errands and cleaning cellars and garages. Each member maintained a victory garden. Members of the club are John O'Brien, Donald Nicol, David Cain, Lois Egan, Hugh Johnson, Jr., and Fred Leah, Jr. Mrs. Ruth C. Cain is the adult club leader.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and full address to Junior Victory Army, Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin well wrapped in your letter. Look for the next JVA story in Friday's Daily Record. Newspaper deliveries are limited. Help fight waste by ordering your Record and Americans from the same newsdealer each day.

28 Chimmy and Horne Set For Ring Bout Tonight

By JACK CONWAY

HENRY CHMIELEWSKI is expected to enter the ring a slight favorite over George (Sonny) Horne in their 10-round bout at a Callahan A. C. show at Mechanics Building tonight. The impressive showings Chmielewski made as he scored two knockout victories over Jackie Caparell have placed him in high favor with the fans.

Horne has engaged in only one bout after a period of ring inactivity while he was at sea with the Merchant Marine. He is carrying more weight than usual, and this may slow him down and cause him to tire if the bout goes the limit.

Horne had shown first-class boxing form in his Boston work-outs, while he has been hitting sharply.

Chmielewski will rely upon his punch and aggressiveness to break through Horne's defense and gain for him the victory. In the Caparell bouts, Chimmy kept walking in and throwing punches with both dukes. Caparell cracked under this style of attack.

Horne is a more experienced boxer than Caparell and Chimmy will not find it easy to hit him with right hand punches. It is likely that Harry Kelley will direct Chimmy to use his left jab and hook until he makes an opening for his right.

Horne will not be so unwise as to try to punch it out with Chimmy. He will rely upon his speed and skill as a boxer to win.

With the capacity of Mechanics Building limited to 5400, there will not be any admission tickets sold for tonight's bout. Every ticket issued will call for a seat.

The bout is a natural and it is expected that it will attract a capacity crowd.

Mulligan vs. Howard

JIMMY MULLIGAN of Lowell will oppose Bobby Howard of Worcester in the feature six-round bout. In other sicks, Johnny Dougwillow will oppose Gene Ward of Chicago, while Mike Mike Cascio of the South End will have Paul DiMico as an opponent.

First to Greet Sharkey arrival in Africa. Sergt. Tommy Morrissey of Charlestown, a member of the Air Corps overseas, was the first person to greet him.

"I didn't know Sharkey was about to land in Africa when I saw a plane circling overhead," writes Morrissey to Eddie Carroll of Riverside Park at Agawam, with whom he was formerly associated. "I watched to see the plane land, and when Sharkey stepped out of it I rushed over and greeted him.

"Jack was tickled to get a reception from one from Boston. Sharkey has made a big hit with servicemen who have met him. He told us they were betting, 4 to 1, in the United States that the war would be over soon. We told him that we hope to see the war in Europe crack up in the spring.

"Sharkey has been very friendly to all who have met him. He has received special attention from New England men who are in Africa."

Skate in N. E.'s

THE COMMONWEALTH Skating Club will be represented by many stars in the New England skating championships that will be held at the Skating Club of Boston on Friday and Saturday. Included in the list of youngsters who have been prepared for the title tests by Eddie Scholdan are Jane Weiss, Kay Lindstrom, Rosemarie Clement, Florence Newcomb, Mary Jane Meads, Marsha Lee Beardsell, Alice Quey and Esther Kaplan.

The Skating Club will have Dorothy Glazier and numerous other stars competing. The stars in the New England championships will compete in the Easterns, which will be held at Lake Placid, N. Y., on Jan. 28 and 29.

Frank Dixon Anxious To Race in Mile

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP)—Pvt. Frank Dixon, star miler before his induction into the Army, may compete in the Metropolitan championships and the Wanmaker indoor mile this winter.

Emil Von Elling, Dixon's coach at New York University, declared Dixon is eager to run again and will compete if he is able to obtain a furlough.

Tropical Claims Average 4 Per Day

Tropical Park's mark of 75 claims in 18 days averaged slightly more than four a day. Horses of all grades have been taken, from the lowliest plate to some racing for $4000. Turfmen have found it practically impossible to buy anything worthwhile so their only resource is the claiming events.

Ross Gets Shore Type Star in Hollett Deal

By BILL GRIMES

For 20 years, Manager Art Ross of the Bruins has been in the market for a two-fisted hard-hitting Irish defenseman.

Well, now he has one, Pat Egan.

During the two decades he has been at the helm of the good ship Bruins, Uncle Arthur has had a total of 27 defensemen on his payroll, which is a heavy turn over.

Although he has had more than his share of outstanding points, including Eddie Shore, Sprague Cleghorn, Fred Hitchman, Dit Clapper, Billy Coutu, George Owen, Myles Lane, Alex Smith, Babe Siebert, Desse Smith, Jack Portland, Joe Jerwa, Jack Pratt, Jake Shewchuk and Archie Wilcox, Art Ross has always wanted an Irish defenseman to flatten opponents for the pleasure of the Boston hockey fans.

When the Bruins announced yesterday that they had traded Bill "Flash" Hollett to the Detroit Red Wings for Pat Egan, the skeptics jumped to the conclusion that Art Ross didn't appreciate "Flash" Hollett's ability.

PAID $16,500 FOR FLASH

Seven years ago, Art Ross paid $16,500 to the Toronto Maple Leafs for "Flash" Hollett. And, today, he'll tell anyone that Hollett doesn't owe the Bruins a nickel. In other words, "Flash" has paid his freight since coming to Boston.

Ross realizes that Hollett is the most colorful player on his payroll. But, he is also well aware of the fact that it was the bone crushing body checks of Sprague Cleghorn, Fred Hitchman, Eddie Shore, Billy Coutu and Desse Smith that "sold" hockey to the Boston public.

Hollett is the poke and elbow type of defenseman. He's not a body checker.

On the other hand, Pat Egan has been mowing them down since he broke into pro hockey with Seattle of the Pacific Coast Hockey League in 1938, during which season he spent 105 minutes in penalty boxes.

Mervyn "Red" Dutton, the current managing director of the N. H. L., brought Pat Egan to the N. H. L. to play with his New York Americans. During the first two years he was with the Americans, Pat Egan gathered only 20 points, eight goals and 12 assists, and spent but 47 minutes in Bastilles. But, during the 1941-42 N. H. L. campaign, Pat's record was eight goals and 20 assists and his penalties jumped to 104 minutes.

FLASH IN 11TH N. L. SEASON

"Flash" Hollett is playing his 11th season in the N. H. L. He broke in with Toronto in the fall of '33 but was loaned to Ottawa about halfway through that season. He was with the Leafs the next year and during the 1935-36 campaign was sold to Boston.

Accompanied by Don Gallinger, who went home to answer his army call "Flash" Hollett left here yesterday for Toronto. He stated that he would not report to the Red Wings but would return to his chicken farm in the outskirts of the Queen City. A few years back, the Bruins tried to send Hollett down to Hershey but "Flash" threatened to retire and was reinstated.

Pat Egan will make his debut with the Bruins against the Maple Leafs in Toronto Saturday night. He wasn't satisfied with the Detroit setup and being an Irishman he didn't hesitate to speak his mind. Pat has always had a warm spot in his heart for the Hub of the Universe, so he'll be out to make an impression with the Boston fans, one week from Saturday against Rangers.

Hollett Heads For Ontario

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (INS)—Flash Hollett, star defenseman of the Boston Bruins' hockey team who was traded yesterday to the Detroit Red Wings by Art Ross, insisted today that he would not appear in the Wings' line-up for tonight's Detroit-New York Rangers game.

"I'm going home to Ontario and I won't play for Detroit tonight, if ever," Hollett said. "I know that being shifted from one city to another is part of a hockey player's career—but that doesn't lessen my disappointment."

Kilrea Keen For Air Force

HARRISBURG, Jan. 6 (AP)—Wally Kilrea, star of the Hershey Bears' ice hockey team, would like to trade his skates for a pair of Army Air Corps wings.

Called to Harrisburg today for his final draft examination, the leading scorer in the American Hockey League said he hoped he would be assigned to the air forces if he is accepted for military service.

Kilrea, 34, is a native of Ottawa, Ont., Can., but is subject to the draft since he makes his home in the United States. He is married and the father of a 10-year-old son, Wally, Jr.

His total score so far this season of 13 goals and 26 assists for a total of 39 points is three points better than that of his closest rival, Gaston Gauthier, another Hershey player.

Tunney Sailed on Missing Sub

TOROKINA, Bougainville, Dec. 31 (delayed) (AP)—Lieut. - Comdr. Gene Tunney, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, was aboard the United States submarine Wahoo during part of its last voyage. (The Navy announced Dec. 2 in Washington that the Wahoo, with a record of having wrought heavy destruction against enemy shipping, was pronounced lost.)

Hialeah Set For Opening

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 6 (AP)—Glamorous Hialeah Park, with its pink flamingoes and exotic landscaping, reopens tomorrow after skipping an entire winter racing season because of wartime difficulties.

The horses today make a final whirl around Tropical Park, where through 19 days of racing fans have passed $6,686,020 through the pari-mutuels wickets, or an average of $351,898 daily.

Hialeah's average daily handle in 1942, when the track last operated, was $520,185 for a 46-day total of $23,928,538. Its rich purses and outstanding stakes, including the $25,000 Widener, the $15,000 Flamingo and the $7500 McLennan, attract fine horses, and in the past, the greatest throngs.

Miamians in other years considered the winter tourist season in its stride when Hialeah opened. That isn't true in 1944. The entire Miami area has been jammed for months, an acute housing shortage brought on federal rent control, and rooms are sleeping with their horses in a number of race track stables.

Many believe that this year's bettors are the uninitiated, witnessing horse racing for the first time in their lives, and the Tropical Park average represents the constant for this season.

Minee Mo Sore

Trainer John Partridge reports that Minee Mo has become sore since his Christmas Handicap victory, causing a slight lull in his workouts.

Comd. Tunney said he accepted the invitation of the Wahoo commander, M. C. Morton, to make a run and observe the effect of undersea service on the men. Last fall, he sailed on the Wahoo from Honolulu to an advanced Central Pacific base. Comdr. Tunney said he planned to make the next run with Morton. But the Wahoo never returned from its mission.

FAUROT CLAIMS '43 NOTRE DAME TEAM BEST EVER

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Jan. 6 (AP)—Coach Don Faurot of the Iowa Seahawks football team says the 1943 Notre Dame football eleven was probably the best in the history of football.

Lieut. Faurot, speaking at the 24th annual University of Notre Dame testimonial banquet last night, also asserted that he believed the best grid coach in America was Frank Leahy, the Irish mentor.

The Seahawks lost to Notre Dame by one point, one of the nine teams defeated by the Irish in their 10 games.

Broadhursts In Skate Derby

The Broadhurst youngsters who have already won three Silver Skates championships will attempt to sweep three classes in the evening Derby classic at the Boston Garden three weeks from Sunday.

Alfred, who is 16 and the oldest, has already captured the Juvenile and Junior titles and is gunning for the Intermediate crown this year. Frank, who is a year younger has been runnerup in the Juvenile, but hopes to win the Junior laurels for '44. And then there's Jane, who is 11 and the holder of the '43 Midget title. This year she is entered in the Juvenile class.

All three Rosindale youngsters have been skating even since they could walk and among them they have won more family honors in the Silver Skates Derby than any other group.

They will be hard pressed, however, to retain their laurels this year, as there is every indication of a banner field in every class. Although entries do not close until January 20, there have been more early entrants than ever before.

The latest batch in addition to the Broadhursts include:

Howard Mendleson, Roxbury; Edgar Leger, Sudbury; Rita Murphy, Dorchester; Kevin Joyce, Newton; John Howard, South Boston; William Sullivan, Arlington; Ann Hobdell, Brighton; Robert Gregory, Boston; Raymond Jodoin, Salem; George J. Walters, South Boston; Edward Lederman, Revere; Margaret Lewis, Medford, and Frank Bechet, Hyde Park.

The earlier entries are filed the better it is for the committee who face the huge task of preparing heats and planning the gala program.

Why wait until the deadline?

$66,000 Colt Faces Price Jinx

By BOB CONSIDINE

William G. Helis, the rich and patriotic Greek, has named his $66,000 2-year-old colt Pericles, after the Athenian statesman, by Xanthippus out of Agariste, and we trust that the expensive plug is able to overcome the jinx of his price tag and the excitement caused by his naming.

Some of the worst horses who ever stepped on loam cost the most. Back in 1928 a yearling named New Brook, by Whisk Broom II—Payment, was bought by an Illinois syndicate for $75,000. New Brook succeeded only in sweeping his owners clean. W. R. Coe purchased Hustle On for $70,000 a year before that, and Hustle On never did. Helis' Pericles is the third highest priced thoroughbred ever sold at a yearling sale. He cost a thousand bucks more than the former owner of third place, Broadway Limited, by Man O'War out of Star Flight. Broadway Limited was another notorious bust.

MANY NAMES OFFERED

Pericles is by Blenheim II (Whirlaway's pappy) out of Risk—which he certainly is. When Helis announced some time ago that he was looking for a good name for the fabulous yearling his office was flooded by suggestions.

Eugenically, the perfect beastie of our time was bred a few years ago in Kentucky when Top Flight, best 2-year-old filly in American racing history, dropped a colt by Man O'War, the best colt. To add to its lustre, the colt was born on Derby Day, and was owned by C. V. Whitney, then

Hitler Target

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Jan. 6 (AP)—Lanky Lon Warneke, veteran Chicago Cub catcher, took his preliminary examination at his local draft board and announced he was ready "to toss hand grenades at Hitler and Hirohito."

Warneke, who is married and has two children, will be 35 in March. He has not been reclassified 1-A but he said he was notifying the Cub management not to count on him for spring training.

and now one of the finest names in racing.

When it came time for the colt to be given a name there was a great to-do. The N. Y. World Telegram ran a contest and received many nominations, most of them war-like. It was finally agreed to call him Sky Raider, which name got past the sharp scrutiny of Fred Klees, a dour gent who sits in his office at The Jockey Club and approves or disapproves of thoroughbred names. He usually disapproves, for he has a horror of ever letting either a commercial aspect or double entendre creep into thoroughbred names—though the wiser owners have occasionally fooled the old man. Ethel Mars, the candy maker, was for instance given permission to name her stable the Milky Way Farms. The rich and lusty Army phrase, Snafu, also passed Klees along with a number of others.

The trouble with Sky Raider was that he turned out to be the black sheep, or goat, in the short-lived family life of Man O'War and Top Flight. He had a slight touch of Leon Errol in his pins, and though he tried hard he just was no account.

TOUGH ROW TO HOE

We've always been of the opinion that great horses and great athletes almost invariably have great names. There is a rival school, given to writing scolding letters, which contends that the horses and the athletes themselves made their names great, but we scoff at that. Man O'War simply had to be a great horse, as did Twenty Grand, Cavalcade, Whirlaway, Blue Larkspur, American Flag, National Anthem by American Flag out of Golden Melody, War Admiral, Equipoise, Gallant Fox, Discovery, Black Gold, Top Flight and many others. We grant that Extremator might have been an exception, though he got his name honorably enough. Cal Milam, who bred wonderful old bones, told Mrs. Milam, the day he named him, that he had called him Extremator because he figured that he'd exterminate all opposition, and he did.

Anybody named Ty Cobb could not possibly have been mediocre, and that goes for Babe Ruth. An athlete named Walter Johnson just had to be solid and substantial, and names like Christy Mathewson, Hans Wagner and Tris Speaker had to be unforgettable. William T. Tilden, II, remains the name which any dramatist would have applied to a tennis player, just as there could be no more virile name for a fighter than Jack Dempsey, or Bat Nelson.

Anyway, Pericles has a tough row to hoe—and we hope he doesn't wind up doing just that.

Ski Notes

Noted ski folk have assembled at North Conway for the holiday weekend. Among skiers and mountain climbers of note who are at this area to enjoy facilities of the Eastern Slope Inn are Betty Woolsey, Mary Cecil, Fritz Weissner, and Norman Reed of Manchester, Mass., who has no doubt visited as many ski resorts as any man in the world.

The Hannes Schneider Ski School, the Cranmore Skimobile, the Eastern Slope Inn and all the hotels and rooming houses in the area have been pushed to accommodate their patrons. Skiing is at its best. A good base which has been augmented by additional snow falls from time to time since November 23, puts this area in a unique situation compared with former years at this time.

Terror Beats Russell In Straight Falls

The Golden Terror defended his duration wrestling championship by taking two straight falls over Rebel Rob Russell before 4000 fans at the Boston Arena. The Terror took the first fall in 2m, 8s, with a top body press, and the second in 9m, 36s, with a reverse back drop.

In the semi-finals, Manuel Cortez defeated Fritz Kasker in 19m, 20s. The first bout went to Frank Judson over Freddie Steele, while Jack Claybourne and Les Ryan battled to a 20-minute draw.

BOB DILL MAKES BIG TIME DEBUT IN N. Y. GARDEN

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN THURS. JAN. 6, 1944

By the Associated Press
Bob Dill, heralded as a second edition of famed Eddie Shore, makes his National Hockey League debut tonight at Madison Square Garden where the New York Rangers entertain the Detroit Red Wings.

President Maurice Podoloff of the American Hockey League announced today that he had lifted the suspension on Dill who was suspended after striking the referee in a game at Pittsburgh last Saturday.

TRADED TO RANGERS

The 23-year-old Dill was traded to the Rangers on Tuesday by Shore, now manager of the Buffalo Bisons in the American League, in exchange for Gordon Davidson and Roger Leger. If he turns out to be only half as good as Shore used to be the Rangers will have a "find."

Overshadowing the Ranger-Red Wing encounter is the meeting between the Chicago Blackhawks and the Toronto Maple Leafs on the Toronto ice. The Leafs took a 6-3 beating from the first-place Montreal Canadiens on Tuesday, but can again tie Boston for second place by defeating the Blackhawks.

TOUGH GUY

Dill played with the Curtis Bay (Md.) Coast Guard in the Eastern League last year. In September he received a medical discharge, then joined the Buffalo team. He has gained a fighting reputation in the American League with a large number of penalties. Only last week he was suspended for striking an official during the heat of competition.

Two Games Slated For Green Five

HANOVER, N. H., Jan. 6 (INS)—Dartmouth's basketball team, riding in first place in the Eastern Intercollegiate League standings with a perfect record of three wins and no defeats, prepared today to meet two strong foes on the Hanover court this week.

Tomorrow evening the Big Green five will face Fort Devens. On Saturday evening the Indians will face Columbia.

White Sox Star To Join Benedict's

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (AP)—Orval Grove, who in his first full year with the Chicago White Sox was the club's leading pitcher, will be married Saturday to Catherine Sline, 22, of Chicago.

The 24-year-old Sox hurler ace, who won 15 games and lost nine last season, was rejected at the induction center last spring and placed in 4-F because of knee injuries.

Boxers, Wrestlers Draw in Illinois

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (AP)—Boxers and wrestlers were busy contestants in Illinois rings last year, appearing in a total of 549 shows before crowds aggregating 540,349.

Chairman Sheldon Clark of the Illinois Athletic Commission said revenue to the State from the events amounted to $53,471, about $10,000 more than in 1942.

Jibe Officials

FITTSBURGH, Jan. 6 (AP)—The officials were a bit tardy in appearing for the second half of the Pitt-Carnegie Tech basketball game last night, so—

Pitt Coach Doc Carlson and Tech Mentor Maxie Hannum took the floor with their teams and started play, Carlson firing the gun and Hannum tossing up the ball for the center jump. Each side scored a field goal before the frowning officials halted the fun and ordered the half started all over again. Pitt won, 63 to 33.

Huskies Enter Rifle Shoot

Despite the limited enrollment of civilian students at Northeastern this year, interest in rifle shooting is being kept alive thanks to Prof. Devine who has sponsored the sport at the Back Bay college for some time.

Again this year the Huskies have entered the William Randolph Hearst Citizen Marksmanship competition even though the youngsters found the opposition of veteran marksmanship a bit too tough last year.

Prof. Devine insists that his students get a great kick out of the opposition and that the collegians will give their best in the postal match and hope to make the final round.

Entries, by the way, close Jan. 22d and those clubs which wish to enter should have their secretaries fill out the entry blank and file immediately.

Wire Congress To Give Vets A Year's Pay

Wire your Congressman immediately to adopt legislation that will provide a year's pay for every honorably discharged serviceman as he is returned to civilian life.

Let's not have any benedicted apple peddlers after this war.

Register your protest against the neglect of the wounded, disabled and mentally sick men of the armed forces who have been discharged without any provision for their care and treatment.

Telegraph your Congressman to act immediately to provide a year's pay for those brave men who have fought and bled to preserve the American way of life.

This is urgent. Telegraph today.
